The SMITHS—By One of Them

Of all the ancient families that dwell upon the earth,
The most antique, if not unique, is that which gave us birth;
For on Egyptian obelisk and Grecian monolith
You'll find enrolled in letters bold the honored name of Smith.
We're scattered all about the earth, by dozens and by scores;
In every clime since dawn of time have dwelt our ancestors.
From Arctic lands to tropic strands are spread our kin and kith—
No racing sheet is quite complete without the name of Smith.
We take a hand in business, and we study each profession;
In every art we have a part, each trade feels our impression,
And boring in the tree of life and getting out the pith,
No mortal can excel the man who bears the name of Smith!
The Robinsons and John Brown's sons, a goodly showing make,
Our family, as all agree, take the real frosted cake;
But if the fact you doubt, just act! If this appears a myth,
Just prove it. See directory. Look up the name of SMITH!

CHAPTER XII

THE SMITHS

THE progenitor of our Smith family was Hamo de Carington, who came to England as a companion of William the Conqueror in 1066. He was the "Armor Smith" and made the shields, swords, spear-heads and arrow tips for the army and being of an artistic temperament he put certain designs on the shields to identify them, e. g., for William, Count of Tankerville, who was a grim fighter, he put a fighting bear on his shield; on the scout's shield he put a wolf, because he was a tireless runner—hence his son assumed the name Wolffson, which was later contracted into Wilson. On Waltter's shield he put a lion, because Waltter was a crafty cat-like fighter. The name Waltter later became contracted into Walter. Hamo de Carington was called the Chief Smith. The design on the Chief Smith's shield was a "hammer" because he used that so much in his work. His comrades hammered some gold into this hammer and called it "The Hammer of Thor," because he was able to do such great things with his hammer. The motto was "Nec Timeo Nec Sperno" (neither fear nor scorn), which means he was brave, but not high hat. This Armor Smith had sons and some became blacksmiths and armor smiths like the father, and others, inheriting a greater degree of the artistic temperament, became goldsmiths and silversmiths. These goldsmiths and silversmiths thought they should have a different coat-of-arms from the others so adopted the peacock as their emblem and, being less warlike, adopted "Grata Quies" (peaceful rest) as their motto. It is apparently from this branch of the family that we are descended because the peacock emblem was on the Andrew Foster Smith coat-of-arms. Captain John Smith of Pocahontas fame, descended from the side who continued having the Hammer of Thor on their crest. As I understand, we can claim either one. In lineal line from Hamo was Sir Mychell, standard-bearer to Richard Coeur-de-Lion in 1191. In the tenth generation from Hamo appears John de Carington, who, in 1404, officially took SMITH as his surname.

The following quotation with "Hammer of Thor—Coat-of-Arms" was received by the author in December, 1938:

"It is not widely known that the famous English author and critic, G. K. Chesterton, once paid the name of SMITH its handsomest tribute. With 300 words of his finest prose he created a memorial to the bearers of this proud name, which will live as long as the family itself. Illustrated by the Connecticut artist, Howard Weld, the print bears at the top the coat of arms of the founder of the family in America, Captain John Smith of Pocahontas fame."

Gilbert K. Chesterton's Tribute to Smith follows:

In the case of Smith, the name is so poetical that it must be an arduous and heroic matter for the man to live up to it. The name of Smith is the name of the one trade that even kings respected, it could claim half the glory of that arma virumque which all epics acclaimed. The spirit of the smithy is so close to the spirit of song that it has mixed in a million poems and every blacksmith is a harmonious blacksmith. Even the village children feel that in some dim way the smith is poetic, as the grocer and the cobbler are not poetic, when they feast on the dancing sparks and deafening blows in the cavern of that creative violence. The brute repose of Nature, the passionate cunning of man, the strongest of earthly metals, the weirdest of earthly elements, the unconquerable iron subdued by its only conqueror, the wheel and the ploughshare, the sword and the steam hammer, the arraying of armies and the whole legend of arms, all these things are written, briefly indeed, but quite legibly, on the visiting card of Mr. Smith. Yet our novelists call their hero "Aylmer Valence" which means nothing, or "Vernon Raymond," which means nothing, when it is in their power to give him this sacred name of Smith—this name made of iron and flame. It would be very natural if a certain hauteur, a certain carriage of the head, a certain curl of the lip distinguished every one whose name is Smith. Perhaps it does; I trust so. Whoever else are parvenus, the Smiths are not parvenus. From the darkest dawn of history this clan has gone forth to battle; its trophies are on every hand; its name is everywhere; it is older than the nations; and its sign is the "Hammer of Thor."

The name Smith is derived from occupation of the original forbears. Even before the Norman conquest of 1066 A. D. the chief smith was an officer of considerable dignity in the courts of Anglo-Saxon and Welsh kings. The position was usually hereditary; so that the name Smith came to be used as a surname.

In the course of its long and honorable history the name of Smith has occurred in many forms. Variants from the common spelling are as follows: Smithe, Smyth (common in old records), Smythe, Smijth, Schmidt (German) Smitt (Dutch), Smid (Saxon) and Smeton (Scotch).

By the fourteenth century the Smiths had emerged from the rank of craftsmen of the burgher class to take their place among the gentry. A Le Smyth was a member of parliament as early as 1320. The Elkington Smith branch is mentioned in the report of 1433. Another branch called the Smith-Caringtons trace their descent to Hamo de Carington, who was a companion of William the Conqueror in the latter's entrance into England in 1066. (as already recorded above).

Thomas Smith, M. D., who was living in 1477, was physician to King James III of Scotland.

Probably the first Smith to arrive in America was the famous Captain John Smith (1580-1636), founder of Virginia, who landed in 1607.

In 1628 the Rev. Ralph Smith emigrated to this continent with the colony of the Massachusetts Bay Company, settling later at Manchester, New Hampshire.

Christopher Smith is recorded as a proprietor of Dedham, Massachusetts, as early as 1640. His will mentions three sons, John, Michael and Eleazer. (Eleazer had a son, Eleazer, who went back to England to become the father of our great-grandfather, Elias Smith I.) Outstanding characteristics of the early American Smiths were industriousness, sobriety, frugality and love of liberty.

James Smith (1720-1806) member of the Continental Congress, signed the Declaration of Independence.

Bibliography—Anderson, "Genealogy and Surnames" 1865; Bardsley, "English Surnames," 1875; Encyclopedia Americana, 1932; Finlayson, "Surnames and Sirenames" 1863.

Under the Chamberlains it is recorded that Lucy Mary Chamberlain, daughter of Dr. Nathaniel Greene Chamberlain, first permanent physician in Bureau County, Illinois, married Andrew Foster Smith on February 8, 1838, at Princeton, Illinois. The early and later family records of Andrew Foster Smith follow:

became one of the earliest settlers. He was a public-spirited citizen, and died at the age of sixty-three, his wife at the age of seventy-eight years. Thomas J. Sharp has continued to reside on the homestead. When his father died, he was thirteen years old, and he then became manager of the farm. October 15, 1840, he married Miss Sallie, a daughter of George and Catherine Parks, to which union succeeded six children, five of whom are living—George P., James C., Sarah C., Amelia A. and Mary M. Mr. Sharp, by industry and frugality, has acquired 219 acres, now improved and valuable, and has also assisted each of his children. In early life he was a Whig, but became afterward a Republican. He has served as guardian and administrator for several estates, having given bonds of $80,000. Mr. Sharp is an old-fashioned gentleman, and retains many relics of the olden time, among them the first corn-cracker operated here, the same having been brought hither by his father. Mr. and Mrs. Sharp are members of the Presbyterian Church.

LORENZO DOW STANGER, farmer and stock-raiser, is a native of Bloomington Township, this county, was born September 18, 1835, and is the oldest son of John and Ann (Thomas) Stanger, natives of Virginia, and respectively of German and English extraction. Lorenzo Dow Stanger was reared on a farm in his native township, where he attended the schools of the day until he was eighteen years of age. When he was twenty years old, his father gave him a horse, with which to make a beginning in life; he afterward hired for $13 per month; then went into McLean County, Ill., and so continued until he was twenty-four years old, when he farmed on shares with Mr. Owen. November 1, 1860, he married Thursa A. Houston, of this county, and to them were given four children—James H., Gilbert E., David Sherman and Ada Montana. Soon after marriage, Mr. Stanger moved to his father-in-law's, and farmed about five years, then went into McLean County, where he owned forty acres, sold the same in 1869, and purchased eighty acres, which he has improved and stocked, and now occupies as his home. Mr. Stanger is a worthy citizen, a Democrat, and he and wife are members of the Christian Church.

LEBANON COURTHOUSE SQUARE HISTORIC DISTRICT (26001-065)

Lebanon was first settled in 1830 and was laid out the following year. It was incorporated as a town in 1838, but this was rescinded in 1841. In 1852, the New York Central Railroad was built. It was the first railroad in the county and in the city.

In 1853, the town was reincorporated, and by 1875 it was large enough to be incorporated as a city.

The first settlers included Abner Longley, John Patterson, James Blair, and William Smith. By 1855, the population was 890, and by 1870 it was 1,600, still considerably less than the population of Thorntown at that time.

The first of four courthouses which Boone County has had was built in 1835. Located on the north side of the square, it was a two-story hewn log structure. In 1840, a small two-story brick structure was erected in the center of the courthouse square. It closely resembled the Statehouse in Corydon, Indiana, and was constructed at a cost of $400.00.

In 1855, the brick structure was razed due to a deteriorating foundation. That year, a third courthouse for the county was begun. William Tinsley, an Irish architect and designer of Christ Church Cathedral in Indianapolis, designed a Gothic Revival style structure, regarded by many as one of the grandest courthouses in Indiana. This structure was completed in 1857 at a cost of $40,000.

The present courthouse was completed in 1911 after the Tinsley courthouse was sold to a contractor for $15.00 in 1909 and razed. Joseph T. Hutton, a Hammond architect, designed the present Indiana limestone and granite structure. The eight limestone pillars are reported to be the largest one-piece limestone columns in the world. Each measures 35 1/2 feet high, and weighs 30 tons. The courthouse was completed at a cost of $265,000.

In 1905, Andrew Carnegie gave the Town of Lebanon a public library. Lebanon's population has grown steadily and the town remains the hub of Boone County.

Boone County

Boone County is located in central Indiana; the geographic center of the state is in the southeast corner of the county in Eagle Township. Boone County is bounded on the north by Clinton County, east by Hamilton County, south by Marion and Hendricks Counties, and west by Montgomery County. It contains an area of 420 square miles. The county is named for Daniel Boone since according to the 1871 New Topographical Atlas & Gazateer of Indiana, "his love of forest life, enterprise, and disinterestedness were prototypes of much that is still admirable in western manners."

Boone County is divided into 12 townships. Each is six miles square and is divided into sections; each section contains 640 acres. The townships are Marion, Clinton, Washington, Sugar Creek, Jefferson, Center, Union, Eagle, Perry, Harrison, Jackson, and Worth. All of the townships were original except Worth which was created in 1851.

Boone County is on the ridge (formerly called the dividing swamps) between the White River and the Wabash River. It is the source of Eagle Creek, White Lick, and the Walnut Fork of the Eel River. The soil in the county is black loam, very fertile, and therefore well suited for agricultural uses. However, at one time, it also supported dense forests which had to be cleared. Some areas also were swampy, necessitating drainage for development.

The county was organized by the Indiana legislature in 1830. This legislation also provided for five appointed commissioners who, among other duties, were to locate and name a county seat. The location of the county seat was to be within two miles of the center of the county since the original choice, Jamestown, was not convenient for all county inhabitants due to its location in the southwest corner of the county.

On May 1, 1831, three of the commissioners met at the geographic center of the newly formed county. The woods and underbrush were dense, the land itself swampy, and there were no settlers—white or Indian—within miles. A little north of this center point, the men noticed a knoll dry enough for a courthouse to be erected upon. One of the commissioners, A.M. French, named the spot Lebanon, likening the tall timbers to those of Lebanon and of the Jordan.

The first white settler in Boone County was Patrick Henry Sullivan who purchased 80 acres in what is now Eagle Township in 1823. However, the first permanent settlement in what is now Boone County was not established until 1828 on the present site of the town of Thorntown.

In the early days of Boone County, the principal element of commerce was trading of skins and other goods. This barter economy was a legacy of the French trading post at Thorntown. As late as 1819 that trading post had a population of 400 Indians and a few French traders.

A primary contributor to the commercial development and expansion of Boone County was the completion of the Indianapolis, Cincinnati & Lafayette Railroad from Lafayette to Indianapolis in 1852. Accompanying this railroad was a telegraph line, and this led to the establishment of the county's first newspaper, "The Boone County Pioneer." In addition, the Michigan Road (U.S. 421), running from Indianapolis to Lake Michigan, was authorized by the Indiana legislature in 1828 and ran through the eastern part of Boone County. Required by law to be 100 feet wide, it became one of the most traveled highways in the state.

After the county was organized and its attributes became known, settlers arrived from the states to the south and east of Indiana. These included settlers from Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, and Kentucky. The population of the county grew from 622 in 1830 (excluding Indians) to approximately 30,000 in 1875. By 1878, the county counted 150 manufacturing establishments including mills, wagon shops, hub and spoke factories, and ditching tile factories. Today Boone County has a population of 36,317 and remains predominantly an agricultural county. The principal population centers are Lebanon, Zionsville, Jamestown, and Thorntown.

PLEASE POST - LAND PATENTS - 800-992-4045 X411

To improve services to abstractors, attorneys, etal a new 800 number has been established to back-up the private pay phone used by the public in the "Public Room" adjoining the Interior Department's patent office. Since phone service is not complete when our reps are in adjoining patent rooms, out to lunch or shut down by government closings we have added the new number. However, for the fastest service you should still call direct 703-751-9760 during business hours: 10AM-3PM EST, with follow-ups as necessary, and use our new number 800-922-4045X411, as needed. In either case we try to get patents out quickly and will call if there is a delay. Our aim is to provide quick, direct and same day services for a low price of $25. PLEASE ASK FOR SHARON/WILL PLOMIS

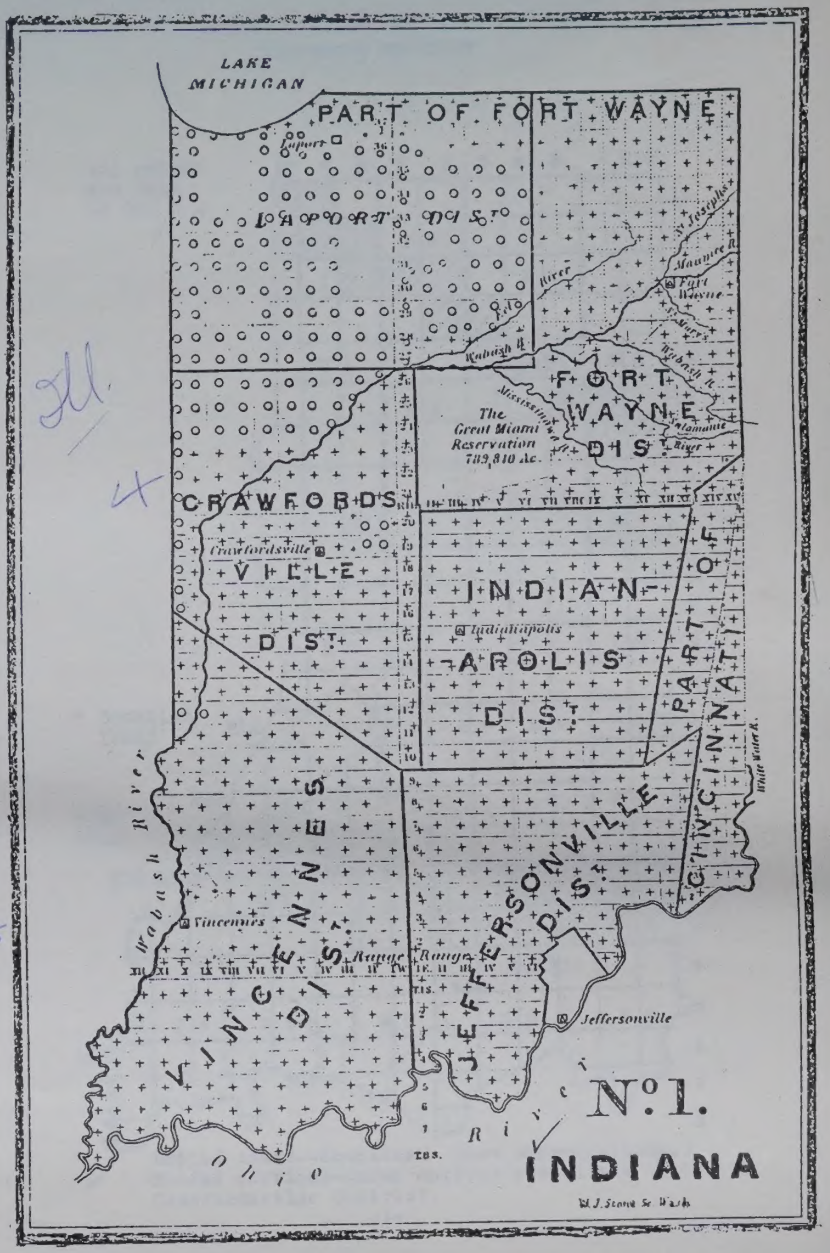
U. S. GOVERNMENT LAND DISTRICTS



At the request of R. Thomas Mayhill, publisher of this edition, who felt a tribute to the author should be included, Carolynne L. Miller, Head Librarian, Genealogy Division, Indiana State Library, enthusiastically agreed to write this Foreword.

FOREWORD

Sharp, spirited, and steadfast, all deserving traits of a good genealogist, also highlight a description of Margaret R. Waters.

Miss Waters has been tracing family trees for over 40 years. A retired English teacher, she first became interested in genealogy when she had to write an autobiography for her high school English class. After the completion of her formal education by receiving degrees from Butler and Northwestern Universities, Miss Waters began her genealogical investigations with her own Waters family. Becoming one of the first professional genealogists in the country, she has since helped many other persons with their family history search.

Miss Waters has compiled several outstanding genealogical resource aids including Revolutionary Soldiers Buried in Indiana, Supplement.

This lovely lady who has given so much to the field of genealogy is not only an ardent supporter of the Indiana State Library but also a personal friend.

TO THE SEARCHER

An article in the Indiana History Bulletin for December 1947, published by the Indiana Historical Bureau, Indianapolis, and quoted by permission, gives an excellent account of the status of the public domain in Indiana Territory, created May 7, 1800.

"Prior to 1800 the only land owned by individuals in Indiana was either in and around Vincennes, where titles went back to French and Indian grants, or in Clark's Grant opposite the present Louisville, which had been allotted to the men who had served with George Rogers Clark in his Revolutionary War campaign against the British.

"Indian title to all lands in Indiana was recognized at least nominally by the Federal government; and before any particular area was opened for sale, negotiations were opened with the chiefs of the tribes that claimed the land. Treaties were made whereby the Indians gave up their claims and accepted goods and money in exchange. The negotiations might be prolonged, but in the end the government always won out.

"The first such treaty affecting Indiana land was held in 1795, when the Indians ceded lands east of a line drawn from Fort Recovery in Ohio to a point on the Ohio River opposite the mouth of the Kentucky River. A triangular strip in what is now southeastern Indiana was thus opened for settlement; but it was not until six years later after the land had been surveyed and a land office was opened at Cincinnati, that it could be purchased. In the meantime, many settlers moved in and 'squatted' on the land, hoping to purchase their preferred site when the area was opened for sale.

"During the first two decades of government land sales in Indiana, purchasers had to buy at least 320 acres and pay a minimum of $2.00 per acre. Four years were allowed in which to complete payments. Land auctions were held when new areas were opened, and the land was sold to the highest bidder. Any tracts not sold at auction could be purchased at the land office for the minimum price. Many purchasers were forced to forfeit their lands when hard times came and payments could not be made. In 1820 a new law was passed which placed the minimum price at $1.25 an acre and allowed purchasers to buy as little as 80 acres. The credit system was abolished in favor of cash payments. At the auction sales, choice land often sold for three and four times the minimum price. In the 1830's and 1840's, pre-emption acts were passed by Congress to give the 'squatter' who had settled and improved a piece of land the opportunity to purchase it at the minimum price before the public sale.

"The rectangular system of land surveys was used for the first time in what is now Ohio in the 1790's. The system was conceived by Thomas Hutchins in 1764 while on an expedition against the Indians."

The tract books for the several land offices in Indiana are deposited in the office of the Auditor of State, Indianapolis, and are in the care of the State Land Clerk. Eventually, it is my plan to copy all of these records according to the chronological opening of the various land offices up to the closing of the offices and the transfer of the records of the remaining, unsold lands in each district to the then-called General Land Office in Washington, D.C.

These records have been copied solely for genealogical purposes to enable a searcher to learn if an ancestor did locate in Indiana; if so, where and when. Consequently, to save time and space, I have omitted giving the acreage and the final certificate numbers. Reference to my page 2 will give the acreage except in the case of fractional sections; and if anyone particularly cares for the final certificate number, he would probably want a signed letter from the Bureau of Land Management in Washington, D.C.

The land records for Indiana have never been published, copied, nor indexed by names. Therefore, they have been completely useless to searchers unless they knew the exact, or at least a close approximate, location of the land on which they suspected ancestors might have settled.

Since the 1820 Census is the first for Indiana, these records will serve, in a way, as a substitute for earlier censuses. The fact that a person entered land, however, does not necessarily mean that he ever actually lived on it. Also, some "squatter" residents may never have bought their land before they migrated to other places. These records will also serve as a partial index to the 1820 through 1880 Censuses, inclusive, in that they will locate a man in a definite township and county.

In copying the records, I have done so exactly as they appear in the originals --- by location. By this, searchers may be able to identify other members of the family from nearby entries made by people of the same surname; also there is the possibility of a clue to neighboring families into which daughters might have married. When a man entered several locations in the same township, I have listed these together after his name to save repeating it later --- providing I have caught the multiple entries in time.

After copying by locations, I have then re-arranged all those in one county together. Some years ago, a member of the State Board of Accounts, interested in the records, labeled the county names on the original pages. In most cases, these were easy for me to check. However, in the case of fractional sections bordering county lines, it is very hard to verify these; in such cases, I have accepted his labels although I do not guarantee them.

The searcher is warned against assuming, without other proof, that Sr. and Jr. necessarily mean father and son. In the early days, this often literally meant the "elder" and the "younger"---sometimes a man and his nephew, occasionally two unrelated men of the same name, coincidentally. A given name or middle name resembling a surname does not always positively indicate a relationship to that family. Children were often given the name of a neighbor. Of course, such names as George Washington Brown or Lorenzo Dow Green are self-explanatory!

In old handwriting, J and I were made identically. One can, of course, interpret Jones or Isaac; but where this letter is used as a middle initial, it is impossible to determine which is meant. I have copied such middle initials as J since in the various styles of handwriting that can be easily interpreted, J appears as a middle initial more often than I. It is hard sometimes to tell whether M is a middle initial or a name like McAdams. I have found difficulty in interpreting Lemuel and Samuel; also, I may have miscopied Jas. and Jos. although I have never seen Joseph abbreviated Jos.

Whimsical spelling has been given exactly as it appears. In the text itself, I have included all middle names and initials. However, in the index, to save space, I have used only the first name with the assumption that most men were called by it. If the searcher suspects that his ancestor might have used his middle name (and this is especially true of Germans), it would be wise to look up all given names listed under a surname. All entries under the same given and surname have been combined in the index; this does not necessarily mean that they are all for the same man.

In the index, I have occasionally made an attempt to standardize or modernize the spelling to make the names more easily found. Also I have combined similar-sounding names such as Meyer-Meier-Myers. However, my interpretation of the handwriting may be faulty; so the searcher is advised to "look around" the alphabet. Names beginning with L-S-T, for instance, look much alike in some script. Also, remember that German names were often spelled interchangeably: B-P, C-G, C-K, D-T, F-P, G-C, G-K, K-N, K-G, N-K, P-B, P-F, S-Z, T-D, V-W, V-F, W-V, Z-S.

Volume 1 of the Indiana Land Entries covered the Cincinnati District, 1801-1840. These records were contained in one small and one large book.

For the Vincennes District, there are 13 large books (some of which are partial duplicates) and one small. I think that it will take at least three books of the size which I am able to publish in order to cover the whole district. At the present time, I have divided the counties contained in this region into three approximately equal parts. This division has no significance other than to suit my convenience. Part 1 comprises all of the present counties of Daviess, Gibson, Knox, Martin, and Pike; and over half of Monroe and Lawrence; this is roughly the central third of the region.

There are in Indiana two Principal Meridians---the first at the Ohio-Indiana State Line at approximately 84 degrees and 49 minutes longitude, the second about two-thirds of the way across the state to the west at approximately 86 degrees and 28 minutes longitude. All ranges in the Vincennes District are west of the 2nd P.M. The Base Line in Indiana is located in the southern part of the state at approximately 38 degrees and 28 minutes latitude. Townships in the Vincennes District are both north and south of the Base Line.

Many entries in the Vincennes District will not be included here (and in Parts 2 and 3) because much of this land was set aside to be sold by the state as Wabash & Erie Canal Lands, Swamp Lands, and Saline Lands. (There are no Michigan Road Lands in this region.) The entries for these are available; but they are contained in so many different volumes and in such scattered fashion that to copy them now and attempt to correlate the locations with the counties would prevent the early publication of this and succeeding volumes. Consequently, I shall copy all of the regular land offices first and later copy these other records. The searcher must keep in mind that, if he does not find his ancestor in the region in which he is said to have lived, the man may show up later in the Swamp Lands records, for instance. Or, additional entries by the same man may show up in several records. In other words, the Vincennes Land Office records do not cover all the sales of lands in its area. Likewise, in a few cases, locations in the Vincennes District are listed as having been sold from the Jeffersonville District. Book 3 of the Vincennes records includes a few locations in the Jeffersonville District, namely T 7 N, R 3 E; T 8 N, R 10 E - R 13 E, incl.; and T 9 N, R 1 E - R 13 E, incl.; these I am holding over until I copy the Jeffersonville District. Some entries in an over-lapping area on the north (see map on page 1) will be found in the Crawfordsville District, to be copied later.

By Act of Mar. 26, 1804, the Vincennes Land Office opened on Apr. 27, 1807, although the earliest entries in Part 1 are dated May 15, 1807. The office, discontinued on Apr. 12, 1840, re-opened on order of Apr. 20, 1853, and finally closed on Dec. 20, 1861, although I find entries in years not included here and as late as on Sept. 4, 1877. Some of the dates in the 1870's I have suspected to be poorly written 50's, but I have no way of verifying this here.

Fortunately for the searcher, most entries list the present or former place of residence. To save space, I have used an asterisk * after a man's name to indicate that he is given as a resident of the county at the top of the page. Out-of-state places of residence are given in full. Residence in Indiana counties other than the one at the top of the page is abbreviated as follows:

The fact that a man is listed at an early date as a resident of a certain county does not necessarily mean that the county concerned is the present county of that name. A resident of a certain county in one year might find himself residing in another county the next year---without having moved! The last county line changes in the Vincennes District were not completed until 1868.

Some names are followed by MLW, which means Military Land Warrant. I have included these. Correspondence with the National Archives concerning several of these picked at random indicates that the majority are for service in the War of 1812, with some for the Black Hawk War and the Mexican War. Some entries are followed by LW. I suspect that these are for military service; but as I am not sure, I have omitted them.

All dates refer to the 1800's, 4-3-31 meaning April 3, 1831. One date after several entries means that all were entered on the same date.

I have omitted $\frac{1}{2}$ and $\frac{1}{4}$ in the description since one capital letter always means a $\frac{1}{2}$ section and two capital letters always means a $\frac{1}{4}$ section. Example:

N-SE north half of south-east quarter
E-N east half of north half
NW-SW north-west quarter of south-west quarter

Note the difference between NE-NW-S2 and NE, NW-S2. The former means the $NE\frac{1}{4}$ of the $NW\frac{1}{4}$ of Section 2 (or 40 acres); the latter means the $NE\frac{1}{4}$ and also the $NW\frac{1}{4}$ (a total of 320 acres) in Section 2. See page 2 for typical divisions of a whole section.

There is one slim book of Relinquishments. I feel sure that it does not include all of the entries which were relinquished for non-payment as there are many names in the 13 books after which a final certificate number does not appear and as the latest relinquishments are dated only through 1831. Relinquished lands were sometimes sold to a new purchaser or were sometimes bought back later by the original entrant, in full or in part. One date after a Relinquishment means the date of entry; in a few cases, the date of relinquishment follows as a second date.

Joint entries in the original records are listed as Richard and Henry Jones. I have copied and indexed these as Richard Jones and Henry Jones. However, some joint entries are listed as John Gray and James Carter Jones. I do not know whether this means John Gray or John Gray Jones. I have copied such entries exactly but have indexed them both ways.

Special mention must be made of Knox County as it was the very earliest part of the state to be settled. Knox County is an abstracter's nightmare since very little of the county is surveyed in townships; the "square" covers most of the land. In 1814 a courthouse fire destroyed all records. The present deed indexes start in 1814. For earlier records, the abstracters consult Vols. 1-2-7 of the American State Papers. Vol. 2, pp. 285-287 list the heads of families residing there in 1783 who were entitled to the Donation Lands, often called the French Grants. In the "square" (a small part of which is now in Daviess County) were laid off 160 lots of 400 acres each. These were found to be insufficient; so 86 more lots were laid off surrounding the "square". An excellent account of the matter can be found on pp. 94-146 of Goodspeed's 1886 History of Knox and Daviess Counties, Indiana.

The Militia Donations were 128 grants of 100 acres each to men who were enrolled in the Militia at Vincennes on Aug. 1, 1790, and who had done military duty but who had not received a donation. In Knox County originally, these grants are now in Gibson County.

Near Vincennes 5,400 acres were granted to the inhabitants of the city as a "common". These were later divided into square lots of 5-10-20 acres called Divisions A-B-C.

Private claims were not considered in the laying out of the Donation Lands and Military Donations. Claimants were permitted other locations, irregularly shaped, of from just a few acres to 400; these claims were called Locations.

For still other claimants, irregularly shaped surveys were made and allotted; such claims were called Surveys. For lists of all these grants, see Goodspeed's history.

THORNTOWN ITEMS.

[From the Thorntown Independent January 21.]

Abraham Bowers of Darlington was in the city on Monday.

Wm. J. McBane has sold his house and lot to Elias Shadd.

Miss Ella Morris, of Lebanon, is visiting the Misses Garrett.

A. C. Remy, of Indianapolis, came over on the afternoon train yesterday.

Milton Hadley has sold his house and ten acres of land to Wm. J. McBane.

Mr. Harper, who left very mysteriously with a "black-eyed beauty," last summer, has returned.

James Roberts, who lives on Thomas Horners farm, had a fine cow whose leg was broken last week by the cars.

A lady, living three miles east of Thorntown, made and sold last year 818 pounds of butter, the product of three cows. She also sold in the same time 100 dozen of eggs.

Miss Mattie Neptune and Miss Nannie DeWitt, who are attending school at Oxford, Ohio, will return home to-day, and will remain during vacation, which will continue about three weeks.

JAMESTOWN ITEMS.

[From the Commercial, January 21.]

A buck-eyed individual entered the drug store of Hendricks Bros., on Monday last and made lively times for them for a few minutes by reducing to fragments some of their furniture.

A poor looking specimen of the human race, by the name of Mansfield Hagan, was arraigned before Justice Youel, on Monday night, for stealing a pair of $2 75 gloves and in default of a $200 bail, spent the night in "Bob's office" in company with Wm Gibson, who paid him due attention. We judge that he has got enough gloves to last him the rest of the winter.

On yesterday evening, one of the natives of that part of Hendricks county which lays adjacent to our place, came to town with the impression that our place possessed no officer who was authorized to make an arrest. And after getting his hide well filled with benzine mounted his blaze faced charger, and made the air ring with his oaths and drunken songs. While thus engaged Mr. Wm. Hicks [illegible] the session of the State Grange to-day, reports of the Secretary, Treasurer, Purchasing Agent, and Executive Committee were presented. The Secretary's report shows three hundred and three Granges reported organized up to October, 1873, and thinks there has been a sufficient number formed since to make the total number three hundred and fifty, and the order is constantly gaining strength.

The Atlanta Georgia Herald says the officers of the National Grange are considering the propriety of issuing a circular to the Order to the effect that the granges entering the political arena must expect a revocation of their charters.

Quite a number of the subordinate granges of Iowa have incorporated into their constitutions a clause binding members in cases where differences occur between them to submit, in all cases, to the decision of arbitrators. This they rigidly adhere to, and law-suits are becoming things almost unknown, and the lawyers and courts find little to do. A member who refuses to abide by the pledge he takes in this regard when he signs the constitution, is considered to have a greater regard for law than justice, and is a subject for grange discipline, even to expulsion. This feature of grange management can not be too highly extolled, nor too widely adopted among the subordinates. If we could get at the expense of litigation among farmers—the lawyers' and court fees, the time squandered, to say nothing of the ill-feeling and permanent enmity resulting in the rupture of social intercourse, which is so palpably essential to growth in morals and happiness—we have no doubt it would be found to go a long way toward paying the farm taxes of every community. Let the example presented by our Iowa friends spread, not only among Patrons, but among all organizations of farmers.—[Prairie Farmer.

TREE DWELLERS.

Among the papers presented to Parliament, says the Times, relating to the South Sea Islanders, is a report by Captain C. H. Simpkins, of her Majesty's ship Blanche, giving an account of his visits last year to the Solomons and other groups of islands in the Pacific Ocean. While at Isabel Island, Captain Simpson, with a party of officers, went a short distance inland to visit one of the remarkable tree villages peculiar, he believes, to this island. He found the village built on the summit of a rocky mountain rising

WHAT ALEXIS THINKS OF US.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Baltic Gazette has seen advanced sheets of the first volume of the Grand Duke Alexis' account of his voyage around the world. This first volume is exclusively devoted to a discription of the Grand Duke's adventures in the United States. The above-mentioned correspondent writes as follows about it;

"This is certainly a very curious work. To judge from what I have read of it—whether His Imperial Highness wrote it himself, or whether an able pen did it for him—the book is intensely interesting. The Grand Duke says his reception in New York almost stupefied him. Up to the last moment he had not thought that so brilliant a reception would be tendered in republican America to the son of a monarch. He was very weak when he landed in New York, and during his progress up Broadway frequently felt like fainting. But every body was so kind to him that he tried hard to look pleased, as he was in his heart of hearts. Broadway, he says, in his opinion, is the finest thoroughfare in the world, because every thing there—houses, shops and the people—look, not monotonous, but gay, lively and bright. What amused him perhaps more than anything else was that the bands, upon catching sight of him, struck up, not the regular Russian anthem, but the so-called 'Dirge of St. Catharine, which is played in Russia only at the funeral of a member of the imperial family. The cheers of the people were more deafening than any he had heard in Europe, from which he playfully concludes that lung diseases cannot be very prevalent in the New World. As to the soldiery, the variety of uniforms struck him as extremely odd. He says he saw, peacefully side by side, helmeted Prussians and kapied Frenchmen, red-coated Englishmen and Irish troops bearing the banner of the Green Isle.

"The Grand Duke cannot praise too highly American hotels. American fare, he thinks, however, is too rich. "There is at their tables, he exclaims, naively, 'always too much of a good thing.' I asked for the peculiar dishes of America and at the hotel they could not give me any. Their cooks were Italian and French. The landlord shrugged his shoulders when I asked him about it. Out West, however, my desire was at once gratified. I dined one day on baked pork and beans, a very palatable dish which would certainly bear transplanting to Russia.

"American manners, the Grand Duke thinks, are a little awkward and angular, but decidedly pleasant

ROMANCE IN REALITY.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 5.

[Correspondence of the Graphic.]

The vicissitudes which mark the lives of some women are exemplified in the case of Mrs. Attorney General Williams. Many and varied are the stories told concerning her marriages, and when at last she appeared in Washington as the wife of the Attorney General, several excellent leaders of fashion were disposed to frown her down. Because a women has been unfortunate, while not guilty, seems to be the very reason why her own sex should befriend and uphold her; but the reverse is almost always the case. Consequently Mrs. Williams went very little into society during her first season in Washington. She held aloof with a calm dignity that surprised the "leades of fashion," while her exemplary conduct eventually forced from them their respect and esteem. It was conceded that she was handsome and agreeable, but it was never suspected that she possessed more than ordinary powers of mind or any diplomatic ability.

She is one of the few women who know how to wait, and, if she cannot create an opportunity, know how to seize one when it occurs. Her husband's position gave her the first golden opportunity of her life, and so well has she improved it, that from being received under protest, she now leads the beau monde of the Capitol, and dictates even to what style of refreshments shall be offered to the guests at receptions. Mrs. Williams well merits her tardy good fortune. But of all the facts concerning her domestic troubles, which have been given to the public, but one has been omitted containing an element of romance, and showing the love she inspired in the heart of her only child.

Whatever were the terms of seperation between herself and first husband, the child remained with its father, who told his son that his mother was dead.

For years the boy believed the story, but one day on going to the Postoffice for his fathers letters he found one addressed to himself. It was from his mother! Overpowered by the sudden knowledge of her existence, he dropped upon the curbstone and read his mother's letter.

It related how ill-treatment had driven her from his side; how, poor, alone, and with the reprobation of the world upon her she had struggled for existence; but happier days had at length come—she was married to a Mr. Williams and was going to Europe. She enclosed her photograph and bade her son never forget all though Europe and America; consequently his education had been neglected; but as he was only twenty-one years of age when he found his mother she hoped to overcome that defect. She put him to school at once, and he gives promise of becoming as brilliant in mind as he is loving of heart.

CELIA LOGAN.

A TALE OF TWO CITIES.

[From the New York Graphic.]

Twelve years ago this month a notice in the Chicago papers announced the admission of a new member to the firm of — Brothers, Sen & Co., who were then doing the heaviest grain business in that city. The head of the house, a gentleman prominently identified with the history of the city, was an old friend of a wealthy resident of Boston, and it was a son of the latter who became interested in the firm, his interest being $100,000. This young man was an only son; was loved as only sons usually are; had been sent abroad for an education, and now, on his return, was given the best possible start in business. He was brisk, nervous, and sanguine, and the spirit of the young city pleased him at once. He displayed considerable ability, was zealous in his duties, and became a great favorite with his senior partner. The head of the house took him to live with him, and introduced him into society, where he took at once and was regarded by match making mothers as a prize much to be desired. Among the old residents of the city was a man who may, for convenience, be named Smith. Smith was not particularly wealthy in the goods of this world, but he had a large family of daughters who were very beautiful. They all bore a striking resemblance to one another, and their graces and accomplishments were very marked. They were known to everybody in Chicago as "old Jake" Smith's Lesuitin daughters." One after another they were married off until but one remained single—a girl just entering womanhood, well educated, naturally brilliant, and her qualities heightened by the charm of good society. She met the junior partner of the leading grain house, they became engaged with the full concurrence of all concerned, and when they were married the ceremony was an event sufficiently notable to be described at length in the various papers.

About this time the junior partner lost his father, who left him the reminder of his fortune. His wife shortly before had lost the parent yet remaining to her. This money did not go to increase his interest in the house, he thought he was doing well to drift through life. In drifting there are dangers worse than death. A man is born to struggle, and what of satisfaction and happiness he experiences comes by struggling. Drifting through the world, trusting to blind fortune, these too often lead to a maelstrom of despair.

TERRIBLE DEATH OF A FISHERMAN.

From the San Diego World.

We were yesterday put into possession of the details of the death of a Chinaman on the Coronades, day before yesterday, that eclipses in horror the death scene described by Victor Hugo in his "Toilers of the Sea," in which a devil-fish is introduced with graphic power. Our readers know that the abalone's meat is a prized delicacy of the Chinaman, and that the shell of the abalone, when properly polished, is one of the most tasteful and beautiful things in nature. The abalones are generally sought lower down the coast, but are also found in the neighborhood of San Diego. Day before yesterday Fung Chou, a professional fisherman, residing near Roseville, known among Americans by the nickname of "Chowder," started out to the Coronades in his boat to hunt for abalones. Of course, his movements can only be surmised by the event. The supposition is that he moored his boat and began his quest. The Coronades are quite abrupt in their formation, precipitous, but occasionally broken. "Chowder" saw an enormous abalone in a cleft of the rock, in a place covered with water when the tide was in, and, throwing himself on his stomach, he dropped over the ledge to wrench the delicacy from its fastness. Abalones are muscular, and if in detaching one from the rock, to which it can fix itself almost immovably, one happens to not wrench it loose at once it often closes its single shell on the rock, prisoning the spoiling hand and causing inex pres-

of the immortal Dr. Livingstone. About two years since he was buried and brought to life every month. Now the telegraph announces that he has died sure this time, between Bembe and Unyanyembe, of dysentery. Living or dead he will live in history forever as the greatest explorer of his age. It is said that his body has been embalmed and will be sent to England.

The preliminary examination of John, E. Corwin, for the killing of Thomas N. Stillwell, closed last Friday, and resulted in his discharge. This verdict is in accord with public sentiment generally. That he did what most men would have done, who are attacked by a man with hate in his heart and a deadly pistol in his hand, especially if the party attacked had an equal hate, and an equally deadly weapon in his pocket, but few will deny. Yet if neither had carried the murderous revolver, though the hate may have been even more malicious, Stilwell would be alive to-day, and Corwin would have one black shadow less upon his soul.

But this is not, most likely, the end of the sad tragedy. The Grand Jury will doubtless find a bill against him, and a tedious trial may yet be expected.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 24, 1874.

Trade of all kinds has been unusually dull in the city during the past week, the very disagreeable weather preventing even the usual city shopping. The clearing weather yesterday (Friday), however, brought out the crowds and the thronged streets and busy stores gave the city her usual cheerfulness. The winter, thus far, has been the mildest ever known in this latitude, and builders have taken advantage of it. Mammoth business houses and palatial residences ours until the next day, at which time he fined Bright as above stated.

The season of revivals is upon us. The Methodist churches all have protracted efforts, also most of the Presbyterian churches. The great Scotch Evangelist, Douglass Russell, has been laboring at the second Presbyterian, Robert's Park and Meridian St. churches during the past week. He is an earnest and, at times, a very eloquent Evangelist. His manner of conducting revivals is upon the Hammond plan, and thus far has met with considerable success.

If the Rev. T. A. Goodwin's book, "The Mode of Man's Immortality," does not have a large sale, especially among Methodists, it will not be the fault of the gratuitous advertising it has been and still is receiving from the Methodist preachers and periodicals. The author is well known in Indiana, both as preacher and editor. He was the editor and publisher of the Indiana American for many years, in this city, but for the past few years has been dealing in Real Estate and loaning money here. He is a ripe scholar, Asburys' first graduate, and a bold and independent thinker, but withal a pious man. The book is a sample of the man. Keen, searching and bold in style, calling things by their right names and of course making many inroads upon the theological belief of a century ago. The Methodist preachers appointed Drs. Holliday and Naylor a committee to review the book. They reported it un-methodistic, full of infidelity, and dangerous. Goodwin replied through the paper, followed by a long and able criticism by Dr. Holliday, in the Sentinel. The Cincinnati Advocate goes for it in a savage style, while Dr. Curry, editor of the New York Advocate, more than half endorses it, but denounces the irreverent manner of the author. And still the war goes on, the nal: The Democratic papers all say that President Grant and Senator Morton are not on good terms. For trustworthy information of leading Republicans we always look to Democratic papers. What they don't know they can easily fill out.

The Louisville Courier-Journal says: A Pennsylvania pair have just been married in a grave yard, at night. They clasped hands over a grave and made their vows in that position. As the moldering dead did not rise and rebuke this piece of foolishness, perhaps the newspapers ought to take no notice of it.

The Peoria Review says that a lady teacher in one of the public schools was amazed the other day by seeing a perfect forest of juvenile hands fly up in the air and shake and gesticulate with violent agitation. "What do you want? queried the puzzled instructor. Chorus.—"Yer hair's falling off."

The Jeffersonville News says: There is a galoot, with more brass than manners, who styles himself a sewing machine adjuster. This fellow has several times intruded himself into the private residence of the editor of the News. We hope he will have sense enough to call at our office if he wants to do any business with the editor, and as for Mrs. Dailey's sewing machine it don't need any adjusting.

delegates of the State of South Carolina having met at Charleston, passed an ordinance of secession from the National Government, and, on the 24th, the convention adopted a "Declaration of Independence of South Carolina." Subsequently, several other of the Southern States adopted similar declarations, and, on the 8th of February, 1861, a "Provisional Constitution" was adopted at Montgomery, Ala., pursuant to which, on the following day, Jefferson Davis and Alexander H. Stevens were elected Provisional President and Vice President. March 5, 1861, Gen. Beauregard was ordered to take command of the rebels at Charleston, and, on the 7th of April, he notified Maj. Anderson that all intercourse must cease between Fort Sumter and the city of Charleston. A demand for the surrender of the fort was made on the 11th, which was declined, and, on the following day, April 12, 1861, the bombardment of Fort Sumter was commenced, by order of Gen. Beauregard, and Maj. Anderson responded on the 13th; on the 14th, evacuating the ruins, he sailed for New York.

April 15, 1861, President Lincoln issued his proclamation calling for 75,000 volunteers, and commanding the rebels to return to peace within a period of twenty days. On the same day, the New York Legislature voted 30,000 men and $3,000,000 to put down the rebellion, the Governor of Kentucky refusing to furnish her quota. Fort Sumter having fallen, the news flew with lightning velocity athwart the continent, on the morning of the day following the announcement. April 15, 1861, the Governor of the State of Indiana, sent by telegraph the following message:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT OF INDIANA,
INDIANAPOLIS, April 15, 1861.

To Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States:

On behalf of the State of Indiana, I tender to you, for the defense of the Nation, and to uphold the authority of the Government, ten thousand men. OLIVER P. MORTON, Governor of Indiana.

"The same day the President issued his proclamation calling forth the militia of the several States of the Union, to the aggregate number of 75,000, in order to suppress the rebellion and cause the laws to be duly executed. The quota of Indiana was subsequently fixed by the Secretary of War at six regiments of infantry, or riflemen, comprising in officers and men 4,683, to serve for the period of three months, unless sooner discharged [illegible] continued by every train. So rapidly did volunteering proceed, in less than seven days more than twelve thousand men, or nearly three times the quota required, had been tendered."

Immediately upon the reception of the Governor's proclamation, the patriotic citizens of Carroll County, as by a common impulse, rushed to the standard of their country. Within two days from the time the drum beat to arms on court house square, more than a full company had volunteered their services, organized a company and elected officers. On the 20th of April, Capt. Hannum was commissioned, and, on the 22d, his company had reported at Camp Morton, Indianapolis, and was duly accepted under the regulations prescribed at headquarters, being among the very first entered for duty. Three days later it was regularly mustered into service with the Ninth Regiment, Robert H. Milroy, Colonel, and, on the 29th of May, left Indianapolis for the seat of war in Western Virginia, arriving at Grafton on the 1st day of June. Immediately afterward, the regiment left that point and marched toward Philippi, in the column commanded by Col. Kelly, and took part in the surprise of the rebel camp at that place on the morning of the 3d of June, afterward returning to Grafton, where it was assigned to Gen. Morris' brigade and participated in all the marches and skirmishes of that command during its brief campaign, and, in the engagements at Laurel Hill and Carrick's Ford. In the battle at Laurel Hill, on the 10th of July, Dyson Boothroyd, of Company A, from Carroll County, was wounded, and died on the 13th, the first offering in sacrifice for the country's defense tendered by this county. In the latter part of July the regiment returned, and, after the brief campaign, was mustered out of service on the 29th of the same month. The following is the roster of Company A:

Captain—Jehu C. Hannum, mustered out, term expired; re-entered service as Captain of Second Cavalry.

First Lieutenant—John H. Gould, mustered out, term expired; re-entered service as Captain in Forty-sixth Regimant.

Second Lieutenant—William A. Pigman, mustered out, term expired; re-entered service as First Lieutenant in Forty-sixth Regiment.

First Sergeant—Thomas Madden, mustered out July 29, 1861, term expired.

Sergeants—Salem P. Eversole, mustered out July 29, 1861, term expired; Amaziah Jackson, mustered out July 29, 1861, term expired; James M. Cratts, mustered out July 29, 1861, term expired.

[illegible] mustered out July 29, 1861, term expired.

MT. TABOR.

The most important feature of Bean Blossom Township in early years was the village of Mt. Tabor. There was a time in the history of this village when it was the leading commercial center of Monroe County, as far as grain and live stock were concerned. The town was the important place before any town was there, if that is not an ambiguous statement. As early as 1820, John Burton erected a saw mill there on a dam which he constructed, and about the same time, or perhaps a little later, he also began grinding corn and wheat, though the bolting of the latter was done by hand. These continued to operate with a wide and useful patronage for several years before any other buildings were erected. It is said that about 1825, James Turner and Jefferson Wampler established blacksmith shops there, though probably not at the same time. William Ellett opened the first salesroom there as early as 1828, in the shape of what later generations would demoninate "a saloon." He sold whisky and other kinds of liquor, and within a year began to sell from a small stock of groceries. He remained but a few years.

CHAPTER XX.

War Record of Carroll County.

THE author has been at great pains to give the names of all the officers and soldiers of Carroll County, who served in the war of 1846, and also 1861. He is aware that the list is not complete, for the reason that very many of our people volunteered in companies organized in other counties, and are credited to the counties in which they enlisted.

It would have afforded the author great pleasure to have given a history of the various regiments and companies organized in Carroll County; but he has already far exceeded the limits originally designed for his book, and he is compelled reluctantly to forbear.

Dyson Boothroyd, a young soldier in the three months' service, a member of Company "A," of the Ninth Regiment, Indiana Volunteers, who was killed in Western Virginia, on the 13th day of July, 1861, is believed to have been the first Union soldier killed after the commencement of the war. He was brought back by his comrades, and buried in the old Delphi grave-yard, with the honors of war. A monument should be erected, by a grateful people, to his memory.

Dear Mrs. Patroude:

According to a History of Carroll Co. by T B Helm 1882 "Dyson Boathroyd was wounded at Battle at Laurel Hill on 10th of July 1861 and died on July 13, the first offering in sacrifice for country's defense tendered by this county."

There is a monument at Delphi City Park on East Monroe St which is a large stone engraved with "First soldier died from Carroll Co Killed in Civil War at Laurel Hill W. V. July 13, 1861."

The statues on the top of the monument on the S. E. corner of the Courthouse lawn is in memory of Soldiers and Sailors.

I did contact a Lawrence Van Der Volgen R 1 Delphi, Ind 46923 and he thinks he might have some obituaries in a scrapbook which might give some information about the Biddles + Boathroyds. If he finds that information he will send a copy to you.

Hope this will give you some help

SMITH, SMYTH,

Caution. After long study of this surname,—I will not say this family,—the following paragraphs have been prepared. There are, perhaps, some errors of combination, as the assignment of children to the wrong parent; the affixing of the date of freemanship among the various persons of the same christian name; the connection of two records as parts of one life, when they relate to different men, etc. Yet the reader may be fairly confident that these pages contain the elements of the solution of the problems, if not all wrought out with absolute accuracy.

Giving Pocahontas the royal treatment

By Cathy Hainer
USA TODAY

You're invited to a birthday party. But no need to bring a gift; the party is 400 years late.

Nearly four centuries after the death of Pocahontas, the Powhatan Indian princess who made history by saving Captain John Smith, Americans have caught Poca-fever.

Although the anniversary of her birth isn't until 1995, several bashes are planned early to coincide with November's Native American month.

Virginia Historical Society

POCAHONTAS: Depicted in painting by Thomas Sully

It was at Wicomico, in present-day Gloucester County, Va., that Pocahontas begged her father, Chief Powhatan, to spare the life of Smith, a British explorer captured by the tribe.

So, on Nov. 19, folks in the town of Gloucester, about 20 miles north of Williamsburg, are hosting The Royal Celebration in Honor of Pocahontas, a birthday fete with Nashville singers, Native American crafts exhibits, a parade and the unveiling of a Pocahontas statue.

Even Las Vegas is getting into the act. Mr. Show Biz himself, Wayne Newton, is being recognized by the folks in Gloucester for his efforts to bring back Pocahontas' remains from her burial site in England.

"I am involved in bringing Pocahontas here for burial because of my great pride in my Native American heritage," says Newton, who claims descendency from Chief Powhatan. "If we, as Americans, have any royalty to look to, it has to be Matoaka, Pocahontas' real name."

Meanwhile, The Virginia Historical Society in Richmond has opened Pocahontas: Her Life and Legend, an exhibit (through April 30) that explores her life through 100 paintings, sculptures, photographs and books.

Also, in April, the Indian princess will get the star treatment à la Disney with Pocahontas, the studio's next full-length animated feature. As payback for her bravery, Pocahontas will get to sing a duet with superhunk Mel Gibson, who supplies the voice of the dashing John Smith.

a major coup that took four face-to-face meetings.

They concurred on the vision from the start. "We knew we wanted to abandon the bolts in the neck and the flat head," Branagh says. In fact, the word "monster" wasn't permitted on the set during shooting.

But De Niro, admits Branagh, "was a little nervous, I think, that I was going to over-intellectualize things." Branagh says his background in Shakespeare, onstage in London and in films such as Henry V, for which he received acting and director Oscar nominations, has saddled him with a persona that's more serious and high-brow than he really is.

In person, Branagh, with longish curly hair and dressed in jeans, is upbeat but reserved. He suspects this movie may broaden his image.

"I'll be interested to see how others see me as a result of this. I was brought up on the movies, not in a library being read poetry to. I just happen to be interested in Shakespeare."

Filling out Frankenstein's cast is John Cleese, as the obsessed doctor's enigmatic and troubled professor, Helena Bonham Carter as his love, Elizabeth, and Tom Hulce as ry that comes with a degree of success that allows us to choose in a way that other people don't have. I mean, I'm not going to go do a movie in Africa for nine months. That's when it gets difficult."

However, after four pictures together — Henry V, Dead Again, Peter's Friends and Much Ado About Nothing — Branagh says it was "necessary artistically" for him to tackle a project without his better half. "I needed to spread my own wings a little bit — and also so we don't get too cozy together in a working situation. But we very much look forward to doing another one."

Should Frankenstein hit he'd consider a sequel. But he'll let somebody else take the K-Y plunge next time. "You could never get it out of your hair. It was a pretty rabid scalp after that."

[1]Editor's Note: A Calendar of Jefferson County Will Book No. 1 (1784-1813) appears in the January, 1932, issue of this QUARTERLY. *

Will Book No. 2 is a volume of 538 transcribed pages covering a period of twenty-one years, during which time Worden Pope was clerk. For convenience in printing, our presentation of this Calendar is divided into two parts. The following statements made in our Introductory Note to Will Book No. 1, pertaining to the interpretations of the penmanship, also apply to the Calendar of Will Book No. 2. **

An effort has been made to retain, as closely as possible, the original spelling, although it is often erroneous. Some of it is evidently phonetic. A name is sometimes spelled two or three ways in the course of one will—in both original and transcribed copies. No attempt has been made to suggest the correct spelling.

In the calendar here published the name of the testator appears in capitals and is followed by the date of the writing and the date of the recording of the will. The nuncupative or oral wills that occur are so designated. No annotations are made except in a few instances. Among them are, in brackets, the Will Book number, B2, and the page on which the will is recorded. In some instances where a name has been found to differ from that given in the Marriage Records, the latter is added with a question mark, in brackets.

*Pages 214-250, this volume.

We give a brief history of some of the lodges mentioned in the foregoing list.

LODGE No. 50.

Being unable to find any of the papers or books of this lodge, with the exception of two ledgers and a book of its minutes from Aug. 12, 1826, to July 11, 1835, its history must necessarily be incomplete; but from its returns made to the Grand Lodge, the minute-book above referred to, and other reliable sources, we have gathered information which, we trust, will interest the reader, be he Mason or not.

This was the first Masonic lodge originally chartered in Chester County. (See Nos. 11 and 50 in "List of Lodges.") At a Quarterly Communication of the Grand Lodge, held at Philadelphia, Dec. 6, 1790, a petition was read from a number of brethren, Master Masons, praying for a warrant to hold a lodge at the sign of the "White Horse," in East Whiteland, in the county of Chester, or at any other place within five miles of it. The prayer was granted, and the Grand Secretary directed to make out a warrant in the name of Bro. John Smith, Master; John Bartholomew, Senior Warden; and John Christie, Junior Warden, of No. 50. Jan. 5, 1807, permission was sought and obtained of the Grand Lodge to remove said lodge to the borough of West Chester.

The following lists show the names and time of service of the Masters, and the names of the members:

John Smith, Dec. 1790, to June, 1800; John G. Bull, June, 1800, to Dec. 1801; Marmaduke Pearce, Dec. 1801, to Dec. 1802; John Rowland, Dec. 1802, to June, 1803; Cromwell Pearce, June, 1803, to Dec. 1803; John G. WHAT'S IN YOUR NAME?

Heraldry For OLIVER

By SANSON INSTITUTE OF HERALDRY

Oliver and its many variants, some of which are Olivier, Olliver and Ollifer, is believed to be derived from the Old French word used to describe a seller of olives, or, symbolically, from the olive branch, an age old symbol of peace.

The Olivers of Scotland however, derive the name from the Norse "Olaf" having been infused into the Gaelic tongue as a result of the countless raids and settlements of the Vikings on Scottish soil.

THE HISTORICAL records show many interesting stories connected with the Oliver name, one of which claims that the fall of Acre is attributed to a Scotsman named Oliver. This man was forced to fight on the side of the Saracens but during the battle he recognized an old fr[illegible]d in the army of the Earl [illegible]tington. There is a castle in County Limerick, Ireland, known as Oliver Castle which was the home of an important landowner called Richard Oliver.

of Esquire Magazine

Here is a rundown on the latest and best of fashions for golfers — devotee or duffer. And the first word in your fashion vocabulary is color! Yes, I know, I've been saying that for several seasons, but this year it's even brighter, perhaps on the principle of beating par by blinding your opponent!

Topping the list are Esquire's fairway colors, the brilliant, vivid blue and green tones we've told you about. Coming in a close second are vibrant yellows and oranges, especially the ripe Mang[illegible] shade we've also reporte[illegible] And white is very import[illegible] either as a solid strok[illegible] color, or used as back[illegible] and border stripes.

This James Aldridge was a Regulator in 1768 in the list of Orange Co., N.C. Regulators. Randolph Co., N.C., bur. McMasters Cemetery in Randolph.

Nathaniel may have been another brother. In the early records of this family, Nathan and Nathaniel are not the same name and are used in the same family. Nathaniel was in Tryon Co., N.C. His wife was named Rosamond. He left N.C. and appears to have gone to S.C. The 1790 census of S.C. gives a Nathaniel, Sr. & Jr.]

WAR OF 1812

The War of 1812 is probably the least centrally documented as to military service of all wars with a foreign power; probably because so much of it was fought in the west as a frontier and Indian war. Service records or references to service are even now frequently uncovered.

There are 30 known veterans of 1812 buried in Rush County, including two referred to as Colonel: Col. Gideon Minor and Col. Joseph Nicholas.

MEXICAN WAR

The Mexican War is not very well documented as to military service. However, records show that at least 5 veterans are buried in Rush County.

CIVIL WAR

Answering President Lincoln's call for 75,000 volunteers, Company E of the 16th Indiana Volunteer Infantry Regiment consisted of 93 enlistees with Paul J. Beachbard of Rushville, Captain, and John S. Grove and Silas D. Byram, Lieutenants. P. A. Hackleman was commissioned Colonel of the Regiment and Joel Wolfe, Major. Brigadier General Hackleman died from wounds received at Battle of Corinth, Mississippi, October 3, 1862, and Lt. Col. Joel Wolfe was killed at the Battle of Richmond, Kentucky on August 30, 1862.

A son of Lt. Col. Joel Wolfe, Col. Edward H. Wolfe, volunteered for service and was Colonel of the 52 regt., I.V.I., and was a Brevet Brigadier General.

these superior talents was united a moral excellence that heightened the character of his influence and exalted him in public regard. Dr. Helm was very widely known. He was a long time in practice and public work and formed an extensive acquaintance all through the state of Indiana.

ISAAC WILLIAMS

Pauline Matney Hume

One hundred fifty nine years ago, in the month of October, 1813, a man by the name of Isaac Williams made a deal with a neighbor in a little settlement in Eastern Tennessee. The neighbor received Williams' log cabin and Williams pocketed a few cash dollars. The deal consummated, Williams and his wife Peggy loaded their personal belongings and some provisions on two pack horses and with their two small children, William and Isaac, set out for the Indiana Territory.

Over the rolling mountains of Tennessee and Kentucky they traveled and across the deep, swift-running Kentucky rivers. Through primeval forests they fought their way, walking most of the time and leading their horses, until, at last, they came to the broad Ohio River and forded across to the bustling town of Cincinnati, the gateway to the new land, which was their goal. They rested a day or so in Cincinnati, and then resumed their laborious journey, going this time up the valley of the Great Miami, to the mouth of the White Water, where they turned west and finally arrived at the small settlement of Somerset which in a few years came to be known as Laurel. There they halted and set up their home.

Their seven hundred mile trek took the Williams family forty days, but this was remarkable time considering the difficulties under which they had traveled.

Isaac Williams became a solid citizen of Somerset for the next five years, but in 1819 rumors began to spread that the government had made a new purchase of land from the Indians, west of Somerset, and that this was to be opened to settlement just as soon as the government could get its plans to functioning.

Williams went over to investigate the new territory and, at a place near the present town of New Salem, he rode up to an Indian Trading Post that had been established in 1814 by Stephen Maple of Somerset. Maple did not live at the trading post but made periodic trips there from Somerset to carry on his trade with the Indians.

The trip wound up with Williams making another deal. He bought Maple's squatter's claim to one acre of forested land around the traveling post and then he rode back to Somerset to sell his home there and move his family, by then increased with the birth of another son named Jehu, to the "New Purchase". This was in the spring of 1819, more than two years before the county of Rush was formed.

When Isaac Williams moved his family in 1819 from Somerset to his newly purchased squatter's claim a few miles north of New Salem, he became one of the first permanent white settlers of Rush County. He lived at this location until his death.

Williams was in a dense wilderness inhabited by only a few Indians. The nearest white settlers lived on Sanes Creek, ten miles to the east, a day's hard travel through the roadless forest.

The first thing Williams did was to fell the great trees and clear an acre of land. Then he erected a brush fence around the clearing by dragging the tree trunks into a square and placing them end to end and piling the brush atop the logs. This done, he built his log cabin. There the Williams family lived in peace among the Indians until the fall of 1820, the time when the "New Purchase" was opened for public land sales.

Williams went down to Brookville to the government land office bearing a precious hoard of silver dollars that he had saved from the time he left Tennessee. His squatter's claim, purchased from the Indian trader Maple, entitled him to first chance at the land on which he lived. But when he counted out his coins, it turned out that he had seven counterfeit pieces among them and they were cast aside by the government agent. This left Williams with not enough money to complete the purchase and the future, after all his work, looked dark indeed, until a man standing nearby, touched by Williams grief, came to the rescue by loaning him the necessary dollars.

So Isaac Williams, one of the first white men to build a home in Rush County, returned to live out his days. He became a member of the Little Flat Rock Baptist Church upon its organization and was one of the most respected citizens of the new community. He was widely known as a hunter and was a crack shot with a gun.

He lived until September 6, 1853, dying at the age of 68, and was buried in the Little Flat Rock Cemetery in Noble Township. He was survived for twenty years by his faithful wife, whom all the people called "Aunt Peggy". One son, Isaac was killed in battle during the Civil War.

This cabin built by Isaac Williams is enclosed in a barn on the old Andrew Guffin farm, later owned by M. O. Sefton, and now owned by Mrs. Russell Logan. Protected from the elements, it is in a good state of preservation. How amazing it is that this cabin, built in the virgin forests still stands.

PLEASANT ADAMS HACKLEMAN

Joyce Ellis

Born in Franklin County, Indiana (then a territory) on November 15, 1814, to Major John Hackleman and Sarah Adams Hackleman was Pleasant Adams Hackleman.

P. A. Hackleman's father served as a soldier in the War of 1812, and was a native of Abbeville District, South Carolina while his mother was born in Stokes County, North Carolina. His parents were married in what is now Franklin County, Indiana, in the year 1810.

P. A. Hackleman spent his early years clearing off the forests of a newly settled country. On October 31, 1833, he married Sarah Bradburn, a daughter of Dr. John Bradburn from Pennsylvania. He continued farming for three years while beginning to read law with John A. Matson, Esq., of Brookville, Indiana. After studying with diligence for ten months, he was licensed to practice law.

With his admission to the Bar in May, 1837, he moved his family to Rushville where he gained distinction in the legal profession. From August, 1837, to May 15, 1841, he held the office, Judge of the Probate Court of Rush County. In August, 1841, he was elected to the House of Representatives in the State Legislature. By the fall of 1847, he was appointed Clerk of the Rush County Circuit Court, in the place of John L. Robinson who resigned. The next two years he was re-elected to that office and served until November 1855.

As a Whig in 1847, and as a Republican in 1858, he was selected by his political friends as their candidate for Congress; although he was unable to be elected. On the Presidential ticket in 1852, his name was placed as Senatorial Elector for Indiana. In 1860 he was a delegate from the State at large to the Convention at Chicago which nominated Abraham Lincoln for President.

Becoming a member of the I.O.O.F., he soon was one of the leading spirits of the fraternity in the State. In July 1851, he was unanimously chosen by the Grand Lodge of the State to be one of their Representatives in the Grand Lodge of the United States. At this position he served for six years. Together with holding these offices and Grand Master of the State in November of 1857, he became editor of the Rushville "Whig" in 1840. Subsequently, he edited the Rushville "Republican" until he entered the army. He was selected as one of the Commissioners or delegates from Indiana to the Conference Convention in Washington City the fourth of February 1861. The purpose was to reconcile the differences and to avert war.

After the rebellion had begun, he offered his services to his country and was appointed Colonel of the Sixteenth Regiment of Indiana Volunteers. This twelve months regiment was later turned over to the United States for the same term. He served nearly twelve months in northeastern Virginia and Maryland. Shortly before the expiration of his term, he was promoted to Brigadier General and ordered to report to General Halleck at Corinth.

Corinth was evacuated in June 1862 before he arrived. He was placed in command of the "First Brigade of the Second Division of the Army of the Mississippi," commanded by General Grant. Here he remained until his death in battle. On October 3, 1862, at about three o'clock P.M. in the battle before Corinth, he was on horseback at the head of his brigade when he received a gunshot wound across the throat, rendering utterance difficult. He was taken to the Tishomingo House at Corinth. He died the same evening about nine o'clock P.M. His last audible words were "I am dying, but I am dying for my country."

In 1923 the cabin where General Hackleman was born was brought to Rushville, where it was reconstructed to honor his memory. It is located on city-owned land at the east edge of the fair grounds. The cabin is cared for by members of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who have furnished it with authentic furnishings and placed a plaque listing General Hackleman's achievements against its log walls.

ROBERT E. MANSFIELD

Priscilla Offutt Winkler

Robert Emmet Mansfield was born June 13, 1866, in Delaware County, Indiana, son of Robert G. Mansfield (who was born in Ohio, August 13, 1818. A school-teacher, stockman and a man of fine intellectual attainments of Welsh and Scotch descent. Died March 13, 1873) and Margaret Thornburg Mansfield (daughter of Asael Thornburg and Rebecca Stanberry, Dutch and Irish descent). He received his education in the public schools of Muncie and when nineteen years of age became associated with William H. Elliott, owner and editor of the New Castle Courier, where he began his career as writer and editor, which became his life work. While there he studied law and was admitted to the bar, but never practiced in that profession, using his knowledge only in his other relations in business. The first year of his majority he was elected clerk of the city of New Castle. Deprived of a college education, by study he qualified himself for service in later life, having a thoroughly disciplined mind and discriminating judgement.

He possessed exceptional facility of expression, his style was facile, terse and entertaining. This natural talent manifested itself in his writings through his career as editor, author, contributor to various publications, and in his government reports during a long period of years spent in the American Consular service. (1899-1917). He was editor of the Muncie Times, city editor of the Indianapolis Journal, editor and owner of the Marion News.

His activities included politics, and in 1896 he was elected Secretary of the Republican State Central Committee.

He was a good speaker, his style being more conversational than oratorical. He was often called upon to speak on patriotic occasions, during his career as Consul-General, and as a citizen at home in his activities in Indiana.

He was married April 17, 1906 to Miss Fanny Alice Gowdy, daughter of ex-Consul General and Mrs. John K. Gowdy, at their home in Rushville, Indiana.

He was appointed Consul to:

EDITOR'S NOTE

The next entry in the book is evidently under date of April 18th 1780 as an adjournment order "untill tomorrow Morning 9 Oclock" following about fifteen or sixteen entries is immediately followed by a "Court continued and held" order under date of the 19th of April, 1780. About 90 pages further along in the book appear to be the remainder of the entries made under date of February 10th, 1780, date under which last entry above was made. We are therefore running next in order remainder of entries under date of February 10th and following through to an adjournment of the Court on February 26, 1780. As will be seen when this adjournment order is reached the Court considered that it was adjourning sine die. Entries made in the book under dates in April later on appear to have been made at a subsequent session of the Court and another "final adjournment"

CHAPTER 8

WILLIAM ALDRIDGE OF FREDERICK COUNTY MARYLAND AND BOONE COUNTY KENTUCKY

This William Aldridge stated in his pension application for service in the Revolutionary War, dated 24th November 1832, that he was 75 years of age, thus born 1757, and when enlisted he lived in Frederick County, Maryland. We have mentioned in previous chapters the potential ancestors of this William according to the records we have. In all possibilities he was a son of William born 23rd November 1730, the son of Thomas and Mary Aldridge that lived in Frederick County. If we have interpreted right that his father was William born 1730 who sold his two tracts of land in 1770 with the intention of traveling west, but for some unknown reason may have never left Maryland, for his son William was living there when he enlisted in the Army in 1777. In 1832 while living in Boone County Kentucky, he applied for his pension which states he was 75 years of age and enlisted 1777 in the 13th Virginia Regiment in the Company of Capt. James Hook, then lived in Frederick County, Maryland. In June 1777 he employed a substitute to finish his term having served 5 months. In 1778 he joined the Company of Capt. James Brenton and served 2 months in the militia. He moved to Kentucky in 1779. In 1782 he served in Capt. Harlan's Company and was in the battle of Blue Lick. In 1782 he went in the Company of Capt. John Smith in Gen. George R. Clark's campaign against the Indians on the Miami. He was in service one month, etc.

Campbell County, Kentucky, 16th October 1832 John Aldridge makes oath confirming the Revolutionary service of William Aldridge (relationship not stated) The certificate of pension issued 10th January 1833 and he received $20.00 per year beginning the 4th March 1831. (Eleven pages of Records) It is this writer's belief the John that confirmed William's services was John Simpson Aldridge, born in Prince George County, and married in Frederick County, Mary Lakin, died in Rush County, Indiana. He was also a soldier in the Company of James Hook. His family will be mentioned later in the book. We do not at this time have the full pension application of John Simpson Aldridge, but a note sent me by Mary S. McCurdy, who has done research on this family, that William Aldridge of Boone County, Kentucky, swore in 1819 that John Aldridge was a soldier in the Revolutionary War. He came down the river 1779 one year after George Roger Clark with his troops, and about twenty families who intended to settle in Kentucky. They landed upon a small island at the Falls of the Ohio, May 27, 1778, and proceeded to erect a fort. Here they remained until the following autumn, when they removed to the mainland and built a fort at the foot of the present Twelfth Street. In 1780, this settlement, which grew to be the largest city in the state, received the name Louisville. (Hist. of Ky.-Kinkead)

Note. Mary Lakin

The wife of William was named Elizabeth, maiden name unknown or where they were married. Their children all were born in Kentucky, and they may have married after arriving there. In a biographical sketch (A Hist. of the State-Perrin) of George J. Hume, a grandson, it is stated:. "Miss Elizabeth Aldridge, a daughter of William and Elizabeth Aldridge, who were natives of Maryland, both immigrated to Jefferson County, Kentucky, settled at Louisville when it was only a fort. William Aldridge, who was a farmer, removed from Louisville, on account of the Indians, to Millersburg (then Fayette, now Bourbon County) and soon after to Verona, Boone County, where he lived the life of a farmer, raising eight children." Contrary to this sketch we have only seven children as being in this family. William Aldridge claimant a per-empt of [illegible] acres of land at the state price in the district of Kentucky, on the account making an actual settlement in the month of May 1779. Fees were paid to Adams Fain. (Ky. State Hist. Soc. v21 pp197-[illegible] We assume this 400 acres may have been taken up in Boone County, after he moved there, however there is a William Aldridge listed as living in Bourbon County in 1800 and this is where the land may have been, for this is where he moved after leaving Louisville.

From records we find this William was in the famous battle of Blue Lick. (Hist. Coll.George Roger Clark v4 p74) Property lost at the Battle of Blue Lick, August 19th 1782, William Aldridge for a horse, saddle and briddle £15 S 10 (Clark's Ms. Va. State Archives) He was living in Jefferson County April 3rd 1781, when a poll was taken for Delegates for that County. He must have left there soon after and gone to Bryan's Station, where he mustered there under the command of Colonel John Todd in a company of 182 men who left there in pursuit of some Indians, overtaking them near Blue Lick on the morning of August 19th, 1782. The battle took place and lasted about five minutes, and in this time the Kentuckians had lost seventy of their bravest soldiers, twelve had been wounded, and seven captured. (Kinkead-Hist. of Ky. pp46-47)

Note: William's birth date is the only one correct. The order and dates listed were arrived at by their marriage dates, not necessarily correct.

1-1. MARY (POLLY) ALDRIDGE & (1) GERALD HUME (2) ASA PEAK

Gerald was a son of John and Elizabeth Hume of Culpeper County, Virginia, and Kentucky. John Hume was taxed in Culpeper County, 1782-1783, when he disappears from the records. (He sold land and granted power of attorney at that time, which indicates he was moving away) He is next found in the 1791 tax list in Fayette County, Kentucky. Removed to Harrison County by 1794, and by 1799 was living in present Kenton County, Kentucky, where he died in 1802. His will probated 5th July 1802 (Campbell Co. Ky. Will Bk. A p77) named the following children: George, Elzaphan (Co-executors of will) Gerard, John, Patrick and Sarah.

Gerard was born about 1760, probably in Culpeper County, appears on the 1787 tax list of Fayette County, Kentucky (with brother George) He served with the Kentucky Militia from at least 1791-1797, and perhaps later. He was an Indian Scout and served with "Capt. James Flinn's company of scouters, in the service of the United States, under the command of General Anthony Wayne," from October 2nd 1793 to December 2nd 1793. (1790-1794 Scouts and Spys, Ky. Muster Roll & Pay Roll) He may have married first ca. 1786/7 in Fayette County, family legend, but no records available. The 1st of February 1796 he married Sarah Rice, daughter of Simon, in Bourbon County. No date concerning this marriage or progeny. He was deceased prior to December 4th 1809 when the administration of his estate was granted to his widow, Polly Hume. Security, Wm. Aldridge. Estate to be appraised by Weedon Sleet, Reubin Connor and Robert Finnell, or any of the two.

Children by Mary Aldridge Hume:

1-1-1. Joel C. b 13th June 1807, Campbell County, Kentucky, d 29th March 1891, Posey County, Indiana m (1) 19th February 1824, in Switzerland County, Indiana, Malinda Diesky, reared a large family from this marriage. Malinda died 10th October 1854, in Posey County, and Joel married 2nd August 20th 1856, Fannie Yeager. Joel Hume was a Baptist minister and served for many years in churches around Poseyville.

1-1-2. Gerard Banks b ca. 1809, died age 52, in Memphis, Tennessee.

Mary Aldridge Hume, widow of Gerard, married in 1816 Asa Peak. She was widowed again by October 1827, when Asa's estate was probated. (Cor. McCurdy) The 1820 census of Boone County lists: Asa Peak 1 male to 5; 2 males to 10; 1 male 45 & up; 1 female 10 to 15; 1 female 26 to 45.

1-2. WILLIAM ALDRIDGE & (1) AGNESS HUME (2) BETSY VAN BLARICUM (3) SOPHIA

William Aldridge Junior married Agness Hume in Campbell County, and was living in Boone County in 1810 which lists him as having one male child under 10. Some time after 1810 they moved across the river to Dearborn County, Indiana, and are listed in the 1820 census as having three male children. Agness was a daughter of Elder George Hume. She was deceased by 26th Novem 1825, when her father wrote his will and said "I give to the bal ance of my children, John, Anny, William, Aquity, Caty, Foby and Agness, deceased, things heretofore advanced to them...." (Hume Family Hist. & Rec.) Missionaries of the Mormon Church were suc cessful in convincing William that he become a member of their faith. Where or when this contact was made is not known, perhaps in Kentucky or Indiana, for he left Indiana some time in the 1830's and traveled to Illinois, where one of his children was born. From there he traveled to Clay County, Missouri, where the Mormons were. Here two more children were born, and his second wife, Betsy, died. Led by Joseph Smith, who established their church, the Mormons had been driven from Ohio to Missouri becaus of their religious beliefs. This was before plural marriage be came a part of Mormonism but they did have the belief that they alone would return to a Heaven on earth. This set them apart and created hostility. They were not a meek people. The Sons of Da were organized to meet violence with violence to protect their own. This group became feared in the border states. The situa tion finally became explosive in Missouri and the Governor issue an order to drive them out of the state. They crossed back over the Mississippi River into Illinois. By February 1839, the last refugees were on their way. They were welcomed by Illinois. The state's legislature granted them a town charter and the city of Nauvoo was established.

After a few years feeling against the Mormons was building up in their new home and they discussed going west to establish their own country beyond the bounds of the United States. This they did and settled in the state of what is now Utah. The fol lowing is part of the writing of a descendant of William by Floy G. Leverton: "Missionaries responsible for the many people join ing the church, was instrumental in William Aldridge leaving his home in Kentucky (Boone County) and joining the Mormons in build ing the Temple at Nauvoo, a beautiful city. People coming to the United States, made a trip up the Mississippi River just to see it. Many beautiful stories have been written about its serenity and perfect planing. Wide roads, new houses. How they draned the swamp land to build it. When the Temple at Nauvoo was fin ished, I have records of the great vacarious work that William Aldridge done. On his work of father's family is work done by heir, William Aldridge. This leads me to believe that he was very staunch believer in his religion. William born 1797, Fayett County, Kentucky. Baptised 19th January 1846. End. 20th Janua 1846." His wife Betsy was born in Ohio, 8th November 1807/8 was daughter of Peter and Mary (Jackson) Van Blaricum. She died in Missouri, in 1837/8. About 1840 William married for his third time a widow, Judson, named Sophia. William died 13th August 18 Washington, Washington County, Utah, and was buried on the 15th City Cemetery of that town. We do not have proof that William and his first wife had any children except the census of 1810 and 18 which list living with them three male children. We do have the names of two whom we will list here as potential sons, but not necessarily so, though a possibility, since they were born in Kentucky about the right time.

A childhood disease left Marion Francis with a weakened heart. He died on a sheep drive out of Phoenix, where William Moses was taking his sheep out of the cold mountains for the winter into the valley. William sat up with him for many nights trying to reach home with him alive. They were out of Fort Apache 15 miles when fluid collected around his heart, and he was freezing to death. They would travel a few hundred feet then stop and build a fire. When he could not go farther, William left him and went on to the Fort, thinking he might have time to save him. When he came back with soldiers, he found Marion dead. They dug a grave and placed him in a blanket where he died, leaving no marker or any sign that would wear through the years. His grave lies in an unknown spot today.

Threats to the Mormons increased in Illinois. When Brigham Young took over leadership of the church, he and other Mormon leaders faced facts. Heartbreaking as it was, they had to leave their new beautiful city and well developed farms. They decided to go west. On March 1st, 1846, the first company of Mormons began the long journey west. When they reached the banks of the Missouri they encamped. It was too late in the season to travel on. They were in a bad spot. It was not safe for them to stay in Iowa, and just across the river was an Indian reservation where white men were forbidden by government order. They camped and considered what to do. There were 500 wagons in camp and 1400 more either on the trail or back in Nauvoo at the mercy of the mobs. While the Mormons were camped on the banks of the Missouri, the Mexican War broke out. An emmissary from the government came to ask the Mormons to raise a batallion to take part in the fight. To be asked to fight for people who had repeatedly driven them from their homes was just too much. They had to stay in the area during the coming winter. They bargained. Give them permission to spend the winter in the reservation across the river and a battallion would go with the army. The Aldridge and Harris families traveled west from Kanesville (now Council Bluff) in Reddick Allred's fifty and Sarah Aldridge was married en route to Silas, 2nd September 1849 at Independence Rock. Reddick N. Allred was a son of Isaac. This family, several of them came out of Randolph County, North Carolina, and first settled in South Carolina, then to Georgia, from there to Bedford County, Tennessee. Where they joined the Mormons we do not know, perhaps in Missouri. James, Isaac, William and John were sons of William and Elizabeth (Thrasher) Allred and grandsons of Thomas and Elizabeth (Warren) Allred.

s. as the f., and indeed Thayer in his Geneal. makes the younger the suffer. in wh. he is foll. by Winsor, contrary to the general import of Calef and Hutchinson. With them I concur, for the s. was only 29 yrs. old, and more venerable age is usually found liable to assaults by the great adversary for such cases. JONATHAN, Duxbury, br. of the preced. m. 10 Dec. 1672, Abigail, d. of Andrew Hallet, had Andrew, Jonathan, John and Benjamin; but no dates are found for either. The two former, it is said, went to Lebanon. He was bur. 17 Feb. 1698, aged 70, says fam. tradit. and his wid. d. 17 Aug. 1725, aged 81. JOSEPH, Duxbury, br. prob. elder, of the preced. m. Mary, d. of Moses Simmons, rem. early to Bridgewater, had Isaac; Joseph, b. 1668; John, and, perhaps Eliz. and Mary; and d. 8 Feb. 1697. The ds. were m. one bef. and one after. From the passeng. in the Mayflower are fill. with details of descend. 28 pages of Thayer's Geneal. and in Collect. of Epitaphs, by Rev. Timothy Alden, compris. in 5 vols. is seen large proof of filial gratitude. Of this name eight had been gr. at Harv. in 1834, and two at Yale.

ALDERMAN, JOHN, Dorchester 1634, Salem 1636, when Jane, prob. his w. was mem. of the ch. had gr. of ld. at S. 1637, freem. 22 May 1639, d. 1657. See Winth. I. 144; and Felt, Ann. I. 171. WILLIAM, Windsor, 1672, soon after at Simsbury, m. 1679, Mary, d. of John Case of S. had Mary, b. 22 Sept. 1680; Thomas, 11 Jan. 1683; William, 20 Oct. 1686; Sarah, 1692; John, 1695; and Joseph, 1697; and d. at Farmington, 1697. His wid. m. 30 Mar. 1699, James Hillyer.

ALDIS, DANIEL, Dedham, s. of deac. John of the same, m. 23 Nov. 1685, Sarah Paine, perhaps d. of the sec. Moses of Braintree, had Sarah, b. 16 Oct. 1686; Daniel, 2 Dec. 1687, d. at 3 mos.; Ann, 21 Aug. 1692; Sarah, 27 Aug. 1695. His w. d. 17 Apr. 1711; and he d. 21 Jan. 1717; and this marks the last appear. of the fam. name on the town rec. His will made two days bef. names w. Sarah, s. in law William Bacon, d. Ann w. of Jonathan Onion, and gr.s. William Bacon; and may be seen in Vol. XX. 166. He was deac. and his w. d. 12 Nov. 1686; and he d. 21 Dec. 1700. Sarah m. 26 Apr. 1675, Gershom Hubbard; and Mary m. 21 Feb. 1679, Nathaniel Richards. JOHN, Dedham, s. of the preced. by w. Sarah he had Joseph, b. 25 Sept. 1676; and Jacob, 27 Dec. 1677; but that w. d. 25 Feb. foll. as is said. Perhaps there were two ws. MEMORIAL MARBLES OF MARYLAND.

Record of Inscriptions on Tombs of the Departed in the Counties of Maryland.

The following inscriptions from tombs of the departed are intended to stand as records for preservation in history, rather than exact transcripts of writings traced in the marbles. One of the purposes of the Maryland Original Research Society is to collate the tombstone records of Maryland, as far as it may be possible, and preserve them in enduring print. To accomplish this at the least expenditure of time and money, and obtain satisfactory results as well, it has been deemed advisable to largely discard epitaphs and words of endearment, except when of a very striking character or found upon the tombs of important personages in Maryland history .

It will be seen that the purpose of the Society is to glean all inscriptions from the earliest period to date. This work is to be thorough and enduring as far as the Society may be able to prosecute it. It is predicated upon the principle that when a mortal has passed into the beyond the inscription on his tomb is history. The arrangement of the names in this record is alphabetical, though not chronological.

FRANCIS SCOTT KEY, AUTHOR OF "THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER"

The True History of the Incidents leading to and the writing of our National Anthem—by Chief Justice Roger B. Taney.
Set to Music and ordered to be printed by Judge Joseph Hopper Nicholson.

The Key Family and many of the Distinguished Poet's descendants—A speech and toast by Key—The Bombardment of Fort McHenry, and a Roster of some of the Officers and privates who defended the City of Baltimore September 12 and 13, 1814.

MRS. REBECCA LLOYD POST SHIPPEN

Francis Scott Key, the author of this famous National Song, was born at the residence of his parents, near "Pipe Creek," in Frederick County, Maryland, August 9, 1780.

This homestead was not far distant from Emmittsburg. He was the son of John Ross Key and Phoebe Ann Dagworthy Penn Charlton, his wife, and the grandson of Francis Key, and Ann Arnold Ross, his wife; a daughter of John Ross and Ann Arnold his wife.

Francis Scott Key married January 19, 1802, Mary Tayloe Lloyd, youngest daughter of the Hon. Col. Edward Lloyd IV of "Wye House," Talbot County, Maryland, and Elizabeth Tayloe of "Mount Airy," Richmond County, Virginia, his wife, a daughter of Hon. John Tayloe II, of "Mount Airy," and Rebecca Plater, his wife, daughter of George Plater, Secretary of Maryland, and Ann Burford his wife, (and sister of Governor Plater, of Maryland.)

Hon. Col. Edward Lloyd IV of Wye House, was President of the Council of Maryland, and a most important and prominent member of the Government, both the Colonial and State Government. He was one of four delegates appointed by the Colonial Government to accept or reject the Constitution of the United States, and his portrait is in that large picture in the Rotunda of the Capitol at Washington, D. C. While his name does not appear as a "Signer" he held a far more important position as one of the four delegates from Maryland, to accept or reject The Constitution of the United States.

Francis Scott Key and his wife resided for two or three years in Frederick Town, Maryland, thence they removed to Georgetown, D. C., and finally removed to Washington, D. C.

He died in Baltimore, Maryland, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Howard, nèe Elizabeth Phoebe Key, (which stood on the n. e. corner of Mount Vernon Place, where now stands the Methodist Episcopal Church, on the eleventh day of January 1843, in the 64th year of his age.

Some years after his death, his widow, Mrs. Mary Tayloe Lloyd Key, removed to Baltimore, and died at her residence there on Cathedral Street, the second door from Emanuel Church, on May 18, 1859, in the 75th year of her age. She was born May 26, 1784.

"Mr. Francis Scott Key was educated at St. John's College, Annapolis, Maryland. "He was eminent as a lawyer, a fine classical and 'Belles Lettres' scholar and a poet, but above all he was very extensively known and beloved as a philanthropist, and as a Christian of fervent piety, ardent zeal, and consistent conduct. After his death a number of his poetical effusions were published in 1857.

One of Mr. Francis Scott Key's compositions "The Star Spangled Banner" became from the very day of its publication, and still continues to be emphatically the "National Song" of the whole Union. In the volume of his poetry mentioned above will be found a letter which was written to the compiler of these memoranda, by Chief Justice R. B. Taney (whose wife Dorothy Key was the only sister of Francis Scott Key), and which gives a full account of the peculiar and interesting circumstances under which "The Star Spangled Banner" was written and first given to the public."

The above tribute was paid to Francis Scott Key by his son-in-law, Mr. Charles Howard, from whose records I have copied it. He was a son of Col. John Eager Howard, and his wife Peggy Chew, a daughter of Chief Justice Chew of Pennsylvania, and married November 9, 1825, Elizabeth Phoebe Key, eldest child of Francis Scott Key. Francis Scott Key and Mary Tayloe Lloyd his wife had eleven children; eldest child:

1. Elizabeth Phoebe Key. Born, October, 10, 1803; died September, 1897; married November 9, 1825, Hon. Charles Howard, son of Col. John Eager Howard, of "Belvidere," and his wife Peggy Chew, daughter of Chief Justice Chew, of Pennsylvania.
2. Maria Lloyd Key, born February 13, 1805; died ——1896; married June 3, 1823, Henry Maynadier Steele, son of James Steele and Mary Nevett, his wife.

9. Ellen Lloyd Key, born August 16, 1821; died in England, 1886; married at the residence of her father, Francis Scott Key, in Washington, D. C., Lieut. Simon Fraser Blunt, U. S. Navy, January 27, 1846. He died April 27, 1854.

Howard, Mr. Francis Key Howard, Mr. Charles Morris Howard, Miss Elizabeth Tayloe Lloyd Key, Mrs. Fanny Key Dorsey, John Ross Key, Clarence Key; the late Mrs. Alice Key Brown of Washington, and many others.

I now copy the letter of Chief Justice Taney in full, which appears as a preface to "Key's Poems." The Chief Justice was a brother-in-law of Francis Scott Key, having married his only sister, Dorothy Key. This letter contains Mr. Key's own account of how he wrote the "Star Spangled Banner" and took it himself to Judge Joseph Hopper Nicholson——, another brother-in-law (as his wife Rebecca Lloyd of "Wye House" was a sister of Mary Tayloe Lloyd, wife of Francis Scott Key, daughters of Hon. Col. Edward Lloyd IV of "Wye House" and his wife, Elizabeth Tayloe of "Mount Airy," Richmond County, Virginia, who set it at once to music and had it published in hand bill form. Mr. Richard West mentioned in this letter was also a brother-in-law of Francis Scott Key having married Maria Lloyd, sister of Mary Tayloe Lloyd Key. This letter of Chief Justice Roger Brooke Taney gives a full account of the peculiar and interesting circumstances, under which "The Star Spangled Banner" was written and published, and first given to the public. I copy this letter here. It is dated:

"Washington, 1856.

"My dear Sir:

I promised some time ago to give you an account of the incidents in the life of Mr. F. S. Key, which led him to write the "Star Spangled Banner." and of the circumstances under which it was written. The Song has become a National one, and will, I think from its great merit, continue to be so, especially in Maryland; and everything that concerns its Author must be a matter of interest to his children and descendants; and I promised to fulfill my promise with the more pleasure, because, while the song shows his genius, and taste as a Poet, the incidents connected with it and the circumstances under which it was written will show his character and worth as a man. The scene he describes and the warm spirit of patriotism which breathes in the Song, were not the offspring of mere fancy or poetic imagination; he describes what he actually saw; and he tells us what he felt while witnessing the conflict, and what he felt when the battle was over, and the Victory won by his Countrymen. Every word came warm from his heart, and for that reason, even more than from its poetical merit, it never fails to find a response in the hearts of those who listen to it.

"You will remember that in 1814 when the Song was written, Mr. Key resided in Georgetown, District of Columbia. You will also recollect that soon after the British troops retired from Washington, D. C., a squadron of the enemy's Ships made their way up the Potomac and appeared before Alexandria, which was compelled to capitulate; and the Squadron remained there some days, plundering the town of Tobacco, and whatever else they wanted. It was rumoured and, believed in Frederic that a marching attack of the same character would be made on Washington, and Georgetown, before the Ships left the river. Mr. Key's family were still in Georgetown. He would not, indeed could not with honor leave the place while it was threatened by the enemy, for he was a Volunteer in the Light Artillery, Commanded by Maj. Peter, which was composed of citizens of the District of Columbia, who had uniformed themselves, and offered their Services to the Government, and who had been employed in active service from the time the British fleet appeared in the Patuxent, preparatory to the movement upon Washington. Mrs. Key refused to leave home while Mr. Key was thus daily exposed to danger. Believing as we did that an attack would probably be made on Georgetown, we became very anxious about the situation of his family; for if the attack was made, Mr. Key would be with the troops engaged in the defense; and as it was impossible to foresee what would be the issue of the conflict, his family by remaining in Georgetown might be placed in great and useless peril. When I speak of we I mean Mr. Key's father and mother, and Mrs. Taney and myself; but it was agreed among us that I should go to Georgetown and try to persuade Mrs. Key to come away with their children and stay with me, or with Mr. Key's father, until the danger was over. When I reached Georgetown, I found the English Ships still at Alexandria, and a body of militia encamped in Washington, which had been assembled to defend the City; but it was believed from information received that no attack would be made by the enemy on Washington, or on Georgetown; and preparations were making on our part to annoy them by batteries on Shore when they descended the river.

"The knowledge of these preparations probably hastened their departure, and the second or third day after my arrival, the ships were seen moving down the Potomac. On the Evening of the day that the enemy disappeared, Mr. Richard West arrived at Mr. Key's house and told him that after the British Army passed through Upper Marlborough, on their return to their Ships, they had encamped some miles below the town, and a detachment was sent back which entered Dr. Beanes' house about Mid-Night, compelled him to rise from his bed, and hurried him off to the British Camp, hardly allowing him time to put his clothes on; that he was treated with great harshness and closely guarded. As soon as his friends were apprized of his situation, they hastened to the head-quarters of the English Army to secure his release, but it was peremptorily refused, and they were not even permitted to see him; and that he had been carried a prisoner on board the fleet. Finding their own efforts unavailing, and alarmed for his safety, his friends in and about about Marlbro' thought it advisable that Mr. West should hasten to Georgetown and request Mr. Key to obtain the sanction of the Government to his (Mr. Key) going on board the Admiral's ship, under a Flag-of-Truce and endeavoring to pro-

EUCHARISTIC ADORATION

A GIFT OF LOVE

"I am the bread of life. You who come to me will never be hungry; he who believes in me will never thirst." Jn 6:35

"When you make a visit to the Blessed Sacrament, evoke within yourselves feelings of faith, thanksgiving, love, contrition, and beg God earnestly for love and perseverance." - Blessed Mary Angela

"The Eucharist is a priceless treasure: by not only celebrating it but also by praying before it outside of Mass we are enabled to make contact with the very wellspring of grace. A Christian community desirous of contemplating the face of Christ...cannot fail also to develop this aspect of Eucharistic worship, which prolongs and increases the fruits of our communion in the body and blood of the Lord." - Pope John Paul II

THE TRANSMITTER

WHOYAGONNACALL? PHIL PATNAUDE!

He's not exactly a Ghostbuster, but Producer/Videographer Phil Patnaude is often the person asked to do a variety of jobs. "I guess I'm sort of the glue between the cracks of the system," Phil says.

Officially, Phil's job is to shoot local commercials and promos and assist in producing them. This calls upon Phil's extensive knowledge of set design, lighting and the technical side of production. "My goal is to give the client the best quality product for the money they're spending," Phil says. "I try to give them the best advice so they'll come back."

His family's business is McDonald Studio and Phil's been taking pictures since the age of six. In high school he became involved with the student-produced TV show Beyond Our Control, which seduced him away from portraits and into television and theater. Hired at WSBT right out of high school, Phil worked for 17 years in the Engineering Dept. During this period, Phil made two short movies, Renaissance and After Dusk.

Phil "of All Trades" Patnaude

He's also been Senior Resident Scenic Designer at the South Bend Civic Theatre for the last nine years, and last year was Guest Scenic Designer at St. Mary's. "I think I inherited an eye for composition," says Phil, "which applies to everything I do: scene design, lighting, video, film, theatre. I do regret, though, that I never focused on just one."

His theater background comes in handy when he sets up for productions like On The Roads, "Jabbin' JT", and the upcoming congressional debate. Phil scouts locations, rents needed equipment, loads and unloads the van and generally ensures everything needed is there and in the right place.

Unofficially, "Handyman" Phil moves desks, hangs pictures, keeps the WSBT archives, picks up the grill for cookouts, and accomplishes a myriad of tasks that most of us never hear about. One valuable asset is Phil's phenomenal memory. "I just…remember things. I know where things are." Phil's type of "glue" has given him staying power at WSBT for the past 28 years and we hope he keeps sticking around.

What's Happening:

- Wellness Check-in on Wednesday, October 20.
- Flu Shots for WSBT have been cancelled.
- Reminder that time change occurs at the end of this month.
- Newstalk 960 had its best review month ever in October!

OCTOBER FUN FEATURES PUMPKINS AND POTLUCK

At last your chance has come to display your artistic side. The Fun Factor is sponsoring a Pumpkin Carving Contest. Scoop out the gooey gross stuff at home; then bring in your carved work of art Wednesday, Oct. 27 to the lounge.

Although a little less controversial than the presidential contest, the Pumpkin Playoff does involve voting for your favorite, and there will be prizes. Plus a big bowl of trick-or-treat candy, already X-rayed of course.

Continuing in the food theme, next Tuesday, Oct. 19 will bring the latest in a series of ever-delicious, ever-popular cookouts. Grillers John Haferkamp, Mike Collins, Carl Tuveson and Todd Schurz will do chicken to perfection, while the rest of us will share in each other's offerings from kitchen or deli. EVERYONE who wants to eat is urged to bring something.

ELMER & ROSE WILLIAMS DECENDENTS' REUNION

ELMER & CHARLES FREDERICK

ROSE, LOUISE WILLIAMS, WINIFRED, MAE WILLIAMS, JUANITA

ELMER AND ROSE WILLIAMS

Elmer Francis Williams and Drusilla Rose Southard were both born in Warren County, Indiana in the year 1873, and were married on September 3, 1893, thus forming the roots to the family tree from which we branch off.

From that union were born five siblings. Cleta Francis was born in 1894, Juanita Mae in 1896, Winifred Frances in 1903, William Rupert in 1907, and Charles Elmer in 1910.

The family was raised in several places in Warren County and in Attica, Indiana in Fountain County.

The 1880 census has Elmer living in Fowler, Indiana with his family. The 1990 census has him and Rose living in Otterbein. That is probably, according to what has been told to me by my mom, Winifred, on a farm about ¼ mile north of me on what is Tippecanoe County road 925W. The house was a two story solid brick house that was still standing until the early 1980s. It was allegedly the oldest home in Shelby Township.

The 1910 census has them listed in Warren County. One place was east of Independence on the river road. Another was between Independence and Greenhill back off main roads near Little Pine Creek. A third place was north of Pine Village on the way to Oxford. Elmer would have been working as a tenant farmer in those days.

The 1920 census has them living in Attica in a rented house with a boarder by the name of Fred Grady. The 1930 census has Fred Grady still living with them. Fred continued to live with my grandma Rose until she died in 1950. I know that they lived in at least 3 different places before my grandpa Elmer died in 1935. One was at 105 N 5th street in Attica. Sometime around 1947 or 1948, Grandma Rose and Fred moved to 102 Taylor Street in the north end of Attica. It is a big house that is still standing but in disrepair. There grandma Rose usually had two or three boarders. I spent a lot of time in that neighborhood between the ages of 6 and 8 because my mom was there almost every day helping care for my grandma who was in failing health.

Elmer's father, Jeremiah James Williams, 1845- 1889, was a private in Co. A 116th Infantry in the Civil War, enlisted in July 1863. There he was a private in Co.K 33rd Infantry in April 1864. That company marched with Sherman in Atlanta in the fall of 1864. Jeremiah James is listed as having died of measles in 1889 and is buried in the James Cemetery on the Pine Village Independence Blacktop.

Sidney Jane Coats', 1852-1924, family were Quakers that were originally from South Carolina before moving to Ohio. Sidney's mother was a Kearns and can be traced back to County Downs in Ireland.

The 1850 census has Sidney living in Pine Township in Warren County. 1870 census has her living in Oxford, Indiana. 1880 in Fowler. In 1900 Sidney lived in Warren County with her daughter Myrtle. In 1910 she was still living with her daughter.

David Southard lived in Adams township in 1860 and in Warren Township in the 1880 census. Nancy Odle lived in Adams Township in 1850 and with her grandparents William and Elizabeth Odle in 1860 in Adams Township.

ELMER AND ROSE WILLIAMS

Elmer Francis Williams and Drusilla Rose Southard were both born in Warren County, Indiana in the year 1873, and were married on September 3, 1893, thus forming the roots to the family tree from which we branch off.

From that union were born five siblings. Cleta Francis was born in 1894, Juanita Mae in 1896, Winifred Frances in 1903, William Rupert in 1907, and Charles Elmer in 1910.

The family was raised in several places in Warren County and in Attica, Indiana in Fountain County.

The 1880 census has Elmer living in Fowler, Indiana with his family. The 1990 census has him and Rose living in Otterbein. That is probably, according to what has been told to me by my mom, Winifred, on a farm about ¼ mile north of me on what is Tippecanoe County road 925W. The house was a two story solid brick house that was still standing until the early 1980s. It was allegedly the oldest home in Shelby Township.

The 1910 census has them listed in Warren County. One place was east of Independence on the river road. Another was between Independence and Greenhill back off main roads near Little Pine Creek. A third place was north of Pine Village on the way to Oxford. Elmer would have been working as a tenant farmer in those days.

The 1920 census has them living in Attica in a rented house with a boarder by the name of Fred Grady. The 1930 census has Fred Grady still living with them. Fred continued to live with my grandma Rose until she died in 1950. I know that they lived in at least 3 different places before my grandpa Elmer died in 1935. One was at 105 N 5th street in Attica. Sometime around 1947 or 1948, Grandma Rose and Fred moved to 102 Taylor Street in the north end of Attica. It is a big house that is still standing but in disrepair. There grandma Rose usually had two or three boarders. I spent a lot of time in that neighborhood between the ages of 6 and 8 because my mom was there almost every day helping care for my grandma who was in failing health.

Elmer's father, Jeremiah James Williams, 1845- 1889, was a private in Co. A 116th Infantry in the Civil War, enlisted in July 1863. There he was a private in Co.K 33rd Infantry in April 1864. That company marched with Sherman in Atlanta in the fall of 1864. Jeremiah James is listed as having died of measles in 1889 and is buried in the James Cemetery on the Pine Village Independence Blacktop.

Sidney Jane Coats', 1852-1924, family were Quakers that were originally from South Carolina before moving to Ohio. Sidney's mother was a Kearns and can be traced back to County Downs in Ireland.

The 1850 census has Sidney living in Pine Township in Warren County. 1870 census has her living in Oxford, Indiana. 1880 in Fowler. In 1900 Sidney lived in Warren County with her daughter Myrtle. In 1910 she was still living with her daughter.

David Southard lived in Adams township in 1860 and in Warren Township in the 1880 census. Nancy Odle lived in Adams Township in 1850 and with her grandparents William and Elizabeth Odle in 1860 in Adams Township.

Notes for THOMAS ODELL(ODLE):
Thomas Odell was born ca 1660 in England. He probably came to America ca 1680. His name first appears in 1681, when he purchased 800 acres of land around Collington in Prince George Co . Md. from Col. Henry Ridgely . He married in April of 1691, to Sarah Ridgely, the widow of John Brewer and the Daughter of Henry Ridgely and Sarah Warner. Thomas ODdell was one of the first Vestrymen of Queen Ann's Parish, along with Col. Henry Ridgely. He was a justice of the County Court and Appointed a Commissioner in 1706 for upper Marlborough District. The Md. Rent Rolls of 1707, show that certain Lands of John Brewer were in the possession of Capt. Thomas ODell for the Brewer orphans and that he lived in Prince George County. About 1707, he purchased 617 acres of land called "Athol" on the north side of Patapsco District. Thomas ODell in his will of April 29, 1717, proved April 11, 1721, devises to his wife, Sarah, to sons Thomas, Reginall and Henry, to Daughters Sarah and Ann.

Elizabeth ODell, widow of William, Administratrix, filed 1st account, May 30, 1750, in the office of the Register of Wills , Baltimore City. She says there is no Kinn to the Deceased in this county that she knows of and gives names and ages of her children by the year. Appraisement made by John Stinchcomb and Joshua Owings. Her securities were John Ward and Edward Oursler. Several Tracts of Land owned by the Deceased seem to have been inherited by the eldest son John, under old English Law./ Some Researchers say Elizabeth was a Talbot.
